Tibet Revolt Flares Anew, Reports Say

Guerrillas Inflict Heavy Casualties On Chinese Troops

Editor's Note—This dispatch was cabled Wednesday from Calcutta, India, after being brought out of Bhutan by mule, the only transportation available. AP correspondent Henry S. Bradsher, on a tour of the Himalayan kingdom, wrote the story May 27.

By HENRY S. BRADSHER

PARO, Bhutan (AP)—The revolt by Tibetan guerrillas against Chinese Communist troops is surging up anew in south-central Tibet, say reports reaching this trade center in northwestern Bhutan.

Information from several official sources in the Tibetan border region of this independent Himalayan kingdom, and from unofficial informants, says truckloads of Chinese dead have been brought by night to Gyantse, southwest of Lhasa, the main Tibetan trade center and former headquarters of the exiled Dalai Lama. Trouble also was reported brewing in western Tibet near the Ladakh area, claimed by both India and China.

Refugee Flow Increases

The fighting has increased the flow of Tibetan refuges to Bhutan, which admitted 4,000 last year after the Chinese crushed the Lhasa uprising and the Dalai Lama fled to India. Prime Minister Jigme Palden Dorji says about 200 refuges have arrived here in the past few weeks.

He fears that if they stay, the Chinese will send agents to stir up trouble for this undeveloped country. Dorji also said New Delhi notified Bhutan, a month ago that India would no longer accept Tibetan refuges. No reason was given.

About 400 Tibetans fled to the tiny Indian protectorate of Sikkim a day or so ago. This is one of the largest groups to flee Tibet in recent months.

Monks Turn On Reds

Resistance to the Chinese this spring is thought to be the most severe since the Chinese cracked down last year.

The Chinese are now trying to capture guerrilla strongpoints southwest of Gyantse in the direction of the borders of Nepal and Sikkim. Some nomadic tribesmen as well as organized guerrilla bands are opposing them.

At Shigatse, Tibet, the Chinese armed monks guarding a monastery under jurisdiction of the puppet Panchen Lama and sent them to capture a rebel fort, but the monks turned against the Chinese. The Panchen Lama, installed by the Chinese after the Dalai Lama fled, is reported under palace arrest in Lhasa.

As a result of the fighting, Chinese deportation of able-bodied Tibetans and Chinese colonization of Tibet are being stepped up.

BOMB VICTIM—Mrs. Frances Binkley Tate (above), 25, pretty Nashville, Tenn., mother, suffered critical injuries yesterday when a crudely-made bomb exploded in her hands. Fragments of the bomb, left at her home in a gift-wrapped shoe box, struck her two small daughters by a previous marriage. Khrush Letter To Demos Hits Administration

WASHINGTON (AP) — Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev says "the present government of the U.S.A." has proclaimed a doctrine of aggression and provocation.

In a letter to four Democratic leaders made public in the Senate Thursday, Khrushchev said this doctrine was not created by the American people and "is not in line with the great democratic traditions of the American nation."

Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, who released the letter, told newsmen Khrushchev obviously was trying to divide the American people. The Soviet leader has suggested another try at a summit conference after the American elections in November.

Johnson, one of four Democrats who sent a message to the Soviet leader just before the Paris summit meeting collapsed, told the Senate he regarded Khrushchev's reply as an "arrogant denial of the facts."

Johnson was joined in the message to Khrushchev by Adlai E. Stevenson, House Speaker Sam Rayburn (D-Tex), and Sen. J. William Fulbright (D-Ark), chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

They told the Soviet leader that all Americans were behind President Eisenhower in a desire for peace and urged Khrushchev not to let the summit conference collapse.

Khrushchev's reply, dated May 30, renewed the Soviet charge that the United States—not the Soviet Union—torpedoed the Paris meeting and said: "The present government of the U.S.A., unfortunately, has shown that it seeks not to improve the relations between our two countries but to destroy those positive results which were achieved in Soviet-American relations within the last year and especially as a result of our meeting and talks with President Eiseenhower during my visit to th United States last September."

Federal Reserve Board Reduces Discount Rate

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Federal Reserve Board, confident that businessmen and consumers no longer are plagued by inflation psychology, Thursday authorized a cut in the discount rate from the present 4 per cent to 3½ per cent.

The board authorized the reduction, effective Friday, at the Philadelphia and San Francisco Federal Reserve banks. The same reduction is expected to be made at the other 10 Federal Reserve banks.

The discount rate is the charge commercial banks pay when they borrow from Federal Reserve banks.

The board action followed a general easing in money markets in recent weeks and may be a signal that the board is ready to loosen up on bank credit even more.

A spokesman said the seven-man board authorized the cut because "the economy is on a solid base and inflation psychology is lessened."

Boy Survives 14-Day Ordeal

FLIN FLON, Manitoba (UPI)—An 8-year-old boy was found alive Thursday near the wreckage of an airplane which crashed 14 days ago, killing his father and the pilot.

The boy, Walter Sedor, told rescuers that he was thrown through the roof when the plane crashed into a rocky hill during a rainstorm shortly after its takeoff.

The wreckage of the three seater Piper Tri-pacer, which left Flin Flon on an evening fishing trip, was spotted by the pilot of a Trans-Air Norseman, Harvey Evans, near Tartan Lake, nine miles northeast of Flin Flon. The boy was flown to a hospital in a Royal Canadian air force helicopter which was scheduled to return to the crash scene to pick up the bodies of Kenneth Harrison, 32, and Steve Sedor, 39, the boy's father.

Strike Closes All Top Shows On Broadway

NEW YORK (AP)—Every major Manhattan stage show was closed tight Thursday night, as the vibrant melody of Broadway was muted by the first actors strike in 41 years.

Mayor Robert F. Wagner made his second try in as many days to get Actors Equity and the producers off dead center in a contract dispute.

Wagner proposed a city fact-finding inquiry into the quarrel. When the producers rejected this, the mayor announced at City Hall that not a Broadway curtain would rise Thursday night.

His statement was confirmed by producer Alexander H. Cohen, who said: "There will be absolutely no shows until there is an agreement. Actors Equity is on strike. It looks like a long one to me."

Actors Equity, in a bitter deadlock with producers over pensions, touched off the strike at dusk Wednesday night when the 17-member cast of "The Tenth Man" failed to report at the Booth Theater.

An audience of 450—kept sparse by advance notice of the Equity maneuver—filed out of the theater and its marquee lights went off.

Almost at once, producers began posting closing notices backstage at the other 21 shows currently on Broadway. Thrown out of work by this retaliatory move were about 1,000 actors, plus 5,000 theatrical technicians — stagehands, musicians, electricians and others.

Negotiations between Equity and the producers resumed but in an aura of despair.

Producer David Merrick said in advance: "All theaters will be struck. All will close."

Producers estimated that every week of a strike cost them a million dollars. The big hits can expect to recover some of this, but more than one marginal show, with anywhere from $60,000 to $400,000 invested in them, may fold.

Not since 1919 had Equity struck the New York stage. In a month-long walkout then the fledging union won its first recognition from Broadway producers.

Thousands Attend Pasternak Funeral

MOSCOW (UPI) —Writer Boris Pasternak was buried Thursday in a country churchyard near the simple cottage he loved too much to leave it for the fame and fortune of a Nobel Prize.

An estimated 3,000 to 5,000 mourners — none from the Kremlin—assembled around the plain pine coffin in the tiny cemetery which the author of "Dr. Zhivago" picked as his final resting place.

Missing from the funeral procession were the Soviet literary leaders who denounced the novel and the 1958 Nobel Prize for literature which Pasternak had to renounce to remain in Russia.

Husband Blamed In Booby Trap Bombing Of Wife

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—Police blamed a jealous husband Thursday for the dynamite bombing of his pretty estranged wife and her two small daughters by a previous marriage.

Frances Binkley Tate, 25, lost both hands and suffered extensive body injuries when the crudely made bomb exploded in her hands at her home in suburban Nashville. Her condition was described as critical.

The two daughters, Charlotte, 8 and Becky, 10, were struck by flying fragments of the bomb, left at their home in a gift-wrapped shoebox. They were reported in serious condition.

A few hours later police arrested Levoy Tate, 33, of Giles County, 60 miles south of Nashville. He was charged with assault with intent to commit murder and was taken to the Davidson County jail for questioning. He denied the charges.

Chief Investigator Tom Kerkeles said the bomb was left at the home of Mrs. Tate's mother, Dorothy Hayes, Thursday morning. Mrs. Tate and her children had been living there recently, the officer said.

Mrs. Hayes first discovered the package at the family mail box on her way to work and carried it to the back porch and gave it to her daughter.

Mrs. Hayes told officers she first thought it was a gift for her newest granddaughter, born to Mrs. Tate two weeks ago. She left for work after handing it to her daughter. Mrs. Tate's two little girls by a previous marriage, Becky and Charlotte, ran to watch their mother open the package on the back porch. It exploded within seconds. The new baby was not injured.

Police said the bomb was made from a stick of dynamite, a detonator and two small flashlight batteries.

Hitler's Sister Dies At Age 64

BERCHTESGADEN, Germany (AP)—Adolf Hitler's sister Paula died here Wednesday, police said. She was 64.

Although officially known as Paula Hitler, she had called herself Paula Wolf to avoid identification with the Nazi fuehrer.

Paula had often said she never got along with the fuehrer, who had provided her with only a small income while he ruled the Third Reich and never invited her to social functions.

After Nazi Germany was defeated in 1945, Miss Hitler withdrew more and more from the world. In the last few years she lived on a tiny government pension in a small room of the old house where she died.

Gates Terms Soviet Rocket Threat Bluff

Pentagon Chief Quizzed As U2 Inquiry Ends

WASHINGTON (AP)—The U.S. defense chief Thursday dismissed as a cold war bluff a new Soviet threat to hurl missiles at any bases from which planes violate Soviet air space.

Secretary of Defense Thomas S. Gates Jr. gave this opinion at the windup of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee's inquiry into the downing of a U.S. spy plane inside the Soviet Union on May 1 and the foundering of the summit talks two weeks later.

Gates assessed the new threat as a bluff because "I don't believe Mr. Khrushchev wants to start a war which he knows will be the end of his country."

Under questioning, the Pentagon chief agreed there were strong indications—which he stressed are "just speculation"—that a military faction may have risen in the U.S.S.R. and cut down some of Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev's power.

The new rocket threat—directed at U.S. allies which harbor American bases—was made Monday in a speech by Marshal Rodion Y. Malinovsky, Soviet defense minister.

But Gates said military elements in the U.S.S.R. "should know better than the political leaders that they will be lost, and slaughtered and devastated in a nuclear war."

Gates Testifies In Secret

And he told one questioning senator that if Malinovsky made good his threat and this started general war, he believed the United States could win.

As in the case of previous witnesses in the committee's post-mortem inquiry on the summit collapse, Gates testified in secret. A transcript was made public after being censored for security reasons.

In his testimony Gates replied to many of the criticisms that have been leveled at him and other top administration officials since the summit crashed in mid-May before it got off the ground.

He made these major points:

1. It was proper to send a spy plane over the Soviet Union two weeks ahead of the summit meeting because there is "really no good time to stop collection of important information." Of the U2 flights in general—"I think it would have been affecting our ability to properly defend the United States if we didn't have this information."

U2s Gathered Vital Information

2. "An important source of intelligence" has been cut off by suspension of the U2 flights—"I think if we had been able to continue them without having been caught, and therefore compromised the source, it would have been most useful."

Censors struck out whatever Gates said about other methods that might be used to ferret out the data formerly collected by U2s flying high over the U.S.S.R. and photographing military and production sites below.

3. From past U2 flights—which Gates said were the responsibility of the Central Intelligence Agency—"We got information on airfields, aircraft, missiles, missile testing and training, special weapons storage, submarine production, atomic production . . . and things like these."

4. The spy plane photographs showed Soviet military strength to be impressive but in some aspects "perhaps less . . . than they advertised."

5. The defense secretary does not believe the Russians will attempt to move their major missile bases because of what the United States learned from the work of the U2s.

"This is quite an undertaking," Gates said. "You don't build the

Ike Again Visits Mamie In Hospital

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower stopped by the hospital on his way home from the golf course Thursday for another brief visit with Mrs. Eisenhower.

The First Lady is reported "responding to treatment and coming along quite well" at Walter Reed Army Hospital. She has been there since Tuesday afternoon suffering from acute asthmatic bronchitis.

White House press secretary James C. Hagerty announced that Mrs. Eisenhower has canceled her plans to accompany the President to his 45th class reunion at the U.S. Military Academy in West Point this weekend. It is expected she will remain in the hospital over the weekend.

Castro Faces Crisis In Agrarian Reform

Cuban Leader May Act To Save 'INRA'

By HAROLD K. MILKS

HAVANA (AP) — Some well-placed Cubans predict Prime Minister Fidel Castro may soon leave his government in other hands and make a personal attempt to steer his National Institute of Agrarian Reform away from disaster.

They say the agrarian reform program which Castro has made the keystone of his social and economic revolution, is faltering badly.

"If that program falls, Castro may fall with it," one Cuban said.

The institute celebrated the first anniversary of the agrarian reform law that set it up with a lengthy television program late last month. The progreess of the organization was dscribed in detail.

But usually informed people, including some officials of the government itself, say "INRA"—as Cubans call the institute — has reached a state of virtual bankruptcy through waste and inefficiency, pouring millions of dollars into projects which may never pay off.

INRA has developed into an economic superstate from its original objectives. It now runs wide industrial, import, export, and commercial as well as agricultural activities.

Unofficial sources say they have learned that Capt. Antonio Nunez Jimenez, left-wing director of the institute, was sent on a commercial mission to the Soviet bloc as a convenient method of easing him out.

Waldo Medina, head of the INRA legal department and a kingpin in confiscating Cuban and American agricultural holdings, lost his job Wednesday. Rene Anillo, director of the bitterly anti-American newspaper Combate, was named to replace him.

During its first year, INRA has created thousands of rural cooperatives and virtually taken over the production and marketing of most Cuban farm products.

But it has made blunders its critics call colossal.

INRA tomoato cooperatives produced a splendid crop that could have sold at top prices in U.S. winter markets. But critics report someone forgot to order shipping boxes until it was too late to catch the peak demand.

INRA took over the marketing of all eggs in Cuba, then let an estimated 350,000 spoil in warehouses while seeking better prices. The head of the INRA egg department is reported under military detention on charges of sabotage.

An even bigger blunder may be in the making. As fast as the 1960 sugar crop was harvested, INRA began seizing thousands of acres of canelands, and incorporating them into state cooperatives. But in most areas officials made no move to start the usual canefield cleanup, fertilization and replanting.

It may take more than an administrative shakeup to undo such damage to the mainstay of the Cuban economy.

Dorchester County Demo Leader Dies

CAMBRIDGE (AP) — Charles Edward Barnett, former Dorchester County register of wills and a longtime leader in Democratic politics, collapsed and died at his home here Thursday. He was 86.

Death was attributed to a heart attack.

Barnett had served several terms on the county Democratic committee and had been a courthouse official for 50 years until his retirement in 1950.

Elder Powers, Promised Khrush Aid, May Visit Son

NORTON, Va. (UPI)—The father of U-2 pilot Francis G. Powers said Thursday night he has been promised "help" by Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev if he goes to Russia to see his son.

Another member of the family said the father, Oliver W. Powers, plans to go to Russia "as soon as possible."

Powers himself, a 55-year-old shoe repair shop operator in this small Virginia town, confirmed he has received a telegram from Khrushchev but declined to say whether it was an actual invitation to Russia. He declined to divulge its full contents but said the last part of Khrushchev's message read:

"If you come to the Soviet Union, I will do everything I can to help you."

The captured pilot's sister-in-law, Mrs. Fred Finlay of Albany, Ga., told United Press International that the elder Powers "does plan to go (to Russia) as soon as possible."

(In Washington, the State Department indicated it would not object to the elder Powers going to Russia to visit his imprisoned son who faces trial as a spy.

(A State Department spokesman said, however, that it has received no passport application from Powers. State Department Press Officer Lincoln White also said there has been no correspondence transmitted by the State Department between Khrushchev and Powers. He said presumably an application for a visa by Powers would be acted on "in the normal manner," even for a trip to Russia.)

Propose Ban On Carriers Of A-Bombs

Western Diplomats Begin Careful Study Of Khrushchev Bid

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet Union proposed Thursday a ban on all means of launching nuclear weapons.

The proposal would cover launchings from seagoing bases, planes, rockets and space satellites.

In a surprise move, Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev addressed a letter to the leaders of all countries represented by diplomats in Moscow, including President Eisenhower.

It was the first word of contact with the American President since the mid-May Paris summit conference fell apart.

In essence the proposal, contained in eight printed pages, was a reworking of the proposal made last September to the United Nations as the highlight of Khrushchev's visit to America.

But it contained revisions which started Western diplomats here searching to determine just what had been then proposed and whether it represented a real step ahead or five steps back.

"It is important and we must study it for it contains matter we cannot ignore," said a Western ambassador.

"Sharp Turnabout"

(In Geneva, the Russian delegate to the three-nation nuclear test ban talks said the Soviet Union demands the right to inspect every nuclear device used in the United States' forthcoming nonmilitary research program. He also repudiated a Soviet scientific group's offer to cooperate in the research program by conducting a series of non-nuclear underground explosions in Russia. Western officials in Geneva said the Soviet position represented a "sharp turnabout.")

Ambassadors were called to the Foreign Office early in the day. Each was handed the document with a covering letter addressed to his chief of government.

U. S. Ambassador Llewellyn Thompson received the letter for Eisenhower and the text directly from Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko.

Six hours later Khrushchev visited a British plastics exhibition here and commented: "We welcome things like this which come to our country in a normal way. What we object to are things flying in over our heads uninvited. Those we will shoot down."

This was an apparent reference to the American U2 spy plane incident.

More Details Promised

Then Khrushchev told correspondents to ask him no questions because he is to see them at a news conference Friday, evidently to tell them more in detail about his disarmament proposals.

What immediately impressed foreign diplomats was that in his new proposal Khrushchev went straight to the heart of the controversy in armament and proposed banning all the means by which nuclear weapons could be sent across national frontiers.

This included abolishing rocket bases, air bases such as the United States has in vital spots around the Soviet Union, and any other carrier by sea or air that could launch nuclear explosives.

In his U. N. speech last fall, Khrushchev made this the third stage of disarmament. At that time he suggested that big nations should cut down their arms and manpower first, with nuclear weapons coming last.

Quake-Devastated Area Jolted Anew

SANTIAGO, Chile (AP)—Three new earth tremors jolted the quake devastated provinces of Concepcion and Llanquihue in south-central Chile Thursday.

The University of Chile said one shock registered force 5 on a scale of 12 and another slightly less.

The third tremor, felt in Santiago at 2:14 p. m. was light.

There was no immediate report of casualties from Conception or Llanquihue—hardest hit in last week's disastrous series of quakes and tidal waves.

The two daughters, Charlotte, 8 and Becky, 10, were struck by flying fragments of the bomb, left at their home in a gift-wrapped shoebox. They were reported in serious condition.

A few hours later police arrested Levoy Tate, 33, of Giles County, 60 miles south of Nashville. He was charged with assault with intent to commit murder and was taken to the Davidson County jail for questioning. He denied the charges.

Chief Investigator Tom Kerkeles said the bomb was left at the home of Mrs. Tate's mother, Dorothy Hayes, Thursday morning. Mrs. Tate and her children had been living there recently, the officer said.

Mrs. Hayes first discovered the package at the family mail box on her way to work and carried it to the back porch and gave it to her daughter.

Mrs. Hayes told officers she first thought it was a gift for her newest granddaughter, born to Mrs. Tate two weeks ago. She left for work after handing it to her daughter. Mrs. Tate's two little girls by a previous marriage, Becky and Charlotte, ran to watch their mother open the package on the back porch. It exploded within seconds. The new baby was not injured.

Police said the bomb was made from a stick of dynamite, a detonator and two small flashlight batteries.

Thousands Attend Pasternak Funeral

MOSCOW (UPI) —Writer Boris Pasternak was buried Thursday in a country churchyard near the simple cottage he loved too much to leave it for the fame and fortune of a Nobel Prize.

An estimated 3,000 to 5,000 mourners — none from the Kremlin—assembled around the plain pine coffin in the tiny cemetery which the author of "Dr. Zhivago" picked as his final resting place.

Missing from the funeral procession were the Soviet literary leaders who denounced the novel and the 1958 Nobel Prize for literature which Pasternak had to renounce to remain in Russia.

CIRENCESTER, England (AP) — Archaeologists have unearthed parts of a monumental turreted gateway about 100 feet wide in this ancient Roman town. It had been mutilated apparently by medieval vandals but bears evidence of passages for both carriages and pedestrians.

Gates Terms Soviet Rocket Threat Bluff

Pentagon Chief Quizzed As U2 Inquiry Ends

WASHINGTON (AP)—The U.S. defense chief Thursday dismissed as a cold war bluff a new Soviet threat to hurl missiles at any bases from which planes violate Soviet air space.

Secretary of Defense Thomas S. Gates Jr. gave this opinion at the windup of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee's inquiry into the downing of a U.S. spy plane inside the Soviet Union on May 1 and the foundering of the summit talks two weeks later.

Gates assessed the new threat as a bluff because "I don't believe Mr. Khrushchev wants to start a war which he knows will be the end of his country."

Under questioning, the Pentagon chief agreed there were strong indications—which he stressed are "just speculation"—that a military faction may have risen in the U.S.S.R. and cut down some of Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev's power.

The new rocket threat—directed at U.S. allies which harbor American bases—was made Monday in a speech by Marshal Rodion Y. Malinovsky, Soviet defense minister.

But Gates said military elements in the U.S.S.R. "should know better than the political leaders that they will be lost, and slaughtered and devastated in a nuclear war."

Gates Testifies In Secret

And he told one questioning senator that if Malinovsky made good his threat and this started general war, he believed the United States could win.

As in the case of previous witnesses in the committee's post-mortem inquiry on the summit collapse, Gates testified in secret. A transcript was made public after being censored for security reasons.

In his testimony Gates replied to many of the criticisms that have been leveled at him and other top administration officials since the summit crashed in mid-May before it got off the ground.

He made these major points:

1. It was proper to send a spy plane over the Soviet Union two weeks ahead of the summit meeting because there is "really no good time to stop collection of important information." Of the U2 flights in general—"I think it would have been affecting our ability to properly defend the United States if we didn't have this information."

U2s Gathered Vital Information

2. "An important source of intelligence" has been cut off by suspension of the U2 flights—"I think if we had been able to continue them without having been caught, and therefore compromised the source, it would have been most useful."

Censors struck out whatever Gates said about other methods that might be used to ferret out the data formerly collected by U2s flying high over the U.S.S.R. and photographing military and production sites below.

3. From past U2 flights—which Gates said were the responsibility of the Central Intelligence Agency—"We got information on airfields, aircraft, missiles, missile testing and training, special weapons storage, submarine production, atomic production . . . and things like these."

4. The spy plane photographs showed Soviet military strength to be impressive but in some aspects "perhaps less . . . than they advertised."

5. The defense secretary does not believe the Russians will attempt to move their major missile bases because of what the United States learned from the work of the U2s.

"This is quite an undertaking," Gates said. "You don't build the

Ike Again Visits Mamie In Hospital

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower stopped by the hospital on his way home from the golf course Thursday for another brief visit with Mrs. Eisenhower.

The First Lady is reported "responding to treatment and coming along quite well" at Walter Reed Army Hospital. She has been there since Tuesday afternoon suffering from acute asthmatic bronchitis.

White House press secretary James C. Hagerty announced that Mrs. Eisenhower has canceled her plans to accompany the President to his 45th class reunion at the U.S. Military Academy in West Point this weekend. It is expected she will remain in the hospital over the weekend.

Castro Faces Crisis In Agrarian Reform

Cuban Leader May Act To Save 'INRA'

By HAROLD K. MILKS

HAVANA (AP) — Some well-placed Cubans predict Prime Minister Fidel Castro may soon leave his government in other hands and make a personal attempt to steer his National Institute of Agrarian Reform away from disaster.

They say the agrarian reform program which Castro has made the keystone of his social and economic revolution, is faltering badly.

"If that program falls, Castro may fall with it," one Cuban said.

The institute celebrated the first anniversary of the agrarian reform law that set it up with a lengthy television program late last month. The progreess of the organization was dscribed in detail.

But usually informed people, including some officials of the government itself, say "INRA"—as Cubans call the institute — has reached a state of virtual bankruptcy through waste and inefficiency, pouring millions of dollars into projects which may never pay off.

INRA has developed into an economic superstate from its original objectives. It now runs wide industrial, import, export, and commercial as well as agricultural activities.

Unofficial sources say they have learned that Capt. Antonio Nunez Jimenez, left-wing director of the institute, was sent on a commercial mission to the Soviet bloc as a convenient method of easing him out.

Waldo Medina, head of the INRA legal department and a kingpin in confiscating Cuban and American agricultural holdings, lost his job Wednesday. Rene Anillo, director of the bitterly anti-American newspaper Combate, was named to replace him.

During its first year, INRA has created thousands of rural cooperatives and virtually taken over the production and marketing of most Cuban farm products.

But it has made blunders its critics call colossal.

INRA tomoato cooperatives produced a splendid crop that could have sold at top prices in U.S. winter markets. But critics report someone forgot to order shipping boxes until it was too late to catch the peak demand.

INRA took over the marketing of all eggs in Cuba, then let an estimated 350,000 spoil in warehouses while seeking better prices. The head of the INRA egg department is reported under military detention on charges of sabotage.

An even bigger blunder may be in the making. As fast as the 1960 sugar crop was harvested, INRA began seizing thousands of acres of canelands, and incorporating them into state cooperatives. But in most areas officials made no move to start the usual canefield cleanup, fertilization and replanting.

It may take more than an administrative shakeup to undo such damage to the mainstay of the Cuban economy.

Elder Powers, Promised Khrush Aid, May Visit Son

NORTON, Va. (UPI)—The father of U-2 pilot Francis G. Powers said Thursday night he has been promised "help" by Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev if he goes to Russia to see his son.

Another member of the family said the father, Oliver W. Powers, plans to go to Russia "as soon as possible."

Powers himself, a 55-year-old shoe repair shop operator in this small Virginia town, confirmed he has received a telegram from Khrushchev but declined to say whether it was an actual invitation to Russia. He declined to divulge its full contents but said the last part of Khrushchev's message read:

"If you come to the Soviet Union, I will do everything I can to help you."

The captured pilot's sister-in-law, Mrs. Fred Finlay of Albany, Ga., told United Press International that the elder Powers "does plan to go (to Russia) as soon as possible."

(In Washington, the State Department indicated it would not object to the elder Powers going to Russia to visit his imprisoned son who faces trial as a spy.

(A State Department spokesman said, however, that it has received no passport application from Powers. State Department Press Officer Lincoln White also said there has been no correspondence transmitted by the State Department between Khrushchev and Powers. He said presumably an application for a visa by Powers would be acted on "in the normal manner," even for a trip to Russia.)

Dorchester County Demo Leader Dies

CAMBRIDGE (AP) — Charles Edward Barnett, former Dorchester County register of wills and a longtime leader in Democratic politics, collapsed and died at his home here Thursday. He was 86.

Death was attributed to a heart attack.

Barnett had served several terms on the county Democratic committee and had been a courthouse official for 50 years until his retirement in 1950.

Propose Ban On Carriers Of A-Bombs

Western Diplomats Begin Careful Study Of Khrushchev Bid

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet Union proposed Thursday a ban on all means of launching nuclear weapons.

The proposal would cover launchings from seagoing bases, planes, rockets and space satellites.

In a surprise move, Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev addressed a letter to the leaders of all countries represented by diplomats in Moscow, including President Eisenhower.

It was the first word of contact with the American President since the mid-May Paris summit conference fell apart.

In essence the proposal, contained in eight printed pages, was a reworking of the proposal made last September to the United Nations as the highlight of Khrushchev's visit to America.

But it contained revisions which started Western diplomats here searching to determine just what had been then proposed and whether it represented a real step ahead or five steps back.

"It is important and we must study it for it contains matter we cannot ignore," said a Western ambassador.

"Sharp Turnabout"

(In Geneva, the Russian delegate to the three-nation nuclear test ban talks said the Soviet Union demands the right to inspect every nuclear device used in the United States' forthcoming nonmilitary research program. He also repudiated a Soviet scientific group's offer to cooperate in the research program by conducting a series of non-nuclear underground explosions in Russia. Western officials in Geneva said the Soviet position represented a "sharp turnabout.")

Ambassadors were called to the Foreign Office early in the day. Each was handed the document with a covering letter addressed to his chief of government.

U. S. Ambassador Llewellyn Thompson received the letter for Eisenhower and the text directly from Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko.

Six hours later Khrushchev visited a British plastics exhibition here and commented: "We welcome things like this which come to our country in a normal way. What we object to are things flying in over our heads uninvited. Those we will shoot down."

This was an apparent reference to the American U2 spy plane incident.

More Details Promised

Then Khrushchev told correspondents to ask him no questions because he is to see them at a news conference Friday, evidently to tell them more in detail about his disarmament proposals.

What immediately impressed foreign diplomats was that in his new proposal Khrushchev went straight to the heart of the controversy in armament and proposed banning all the means by which nuclear weapons could be sent across national frontiers.

This included abolishing rocket bases, air bases such as the United States has in vital spots around the Soviet Union, and any other carrier by sea or air that could launch nuclear explosives.

In his U. N. speech last fall, Khrushchev made this the third stage of disarmament. At that time he suggested that big nations should cut down their arms and manpower first, with nuclear weapons coming last.

Quake-Devastated Area Jolted Anew

SANTIAGO, Chile (AP)—Three new earth tremors jolted the quake devastated provinces of Concepcion and Llanquihue in south-central Chile Thursday.

The University of Chile said one shock registered force 5 on a scale of 12 and another slightly less.

The third tremor, felt in Santiago at 2:14 p. m. was light.

There was no immediate report of casualties from Conception or Llanquihue—hardest hit in last week's disastrous series of quakes and tidal waves.

Dog Delays Trains

LONDON (AP)—A small white terrier dawdling playfully along the tracks delayed morning commuter trains up to half an hour Thursday. The dog strolled for three miles as rush-hour trains piled up. He dodged track maintenance men but finally ambled off and traffic resumed.

Crash Fulfills Two Boys' Vow To Fly Or Die Trying

POMONA, Calif. (AP) — A screaming power dive into a schoolyard in a stolen plane Thursday fulfilled the vow of two runaway brothers, 12 and 14, that they would "learn to fly or die trying."

The single-engine plane carrying James McDonald and his younger brother, Thomas, crashed, exploded and burned after erratically circling a residential district of this Los Angeles suburb for 10 minutes.

Their small brown pet dog died with them.

The boys' only qualifications for flying was that James had read a book about it. They tried unsuccessfully to steal a plane 2½ months ago and James later told juvenile officers: "I just know I can fly." Then he made his fly or die vow.

The brothers, a machinist's brown-haired, blue-eyed sons, were described by authorities as chronic runaways and by their school principal as "quite intelligent boys."

Wednesday night they apparently "hot-wired" the ignition of the plane—an old trick of car thieves—and got the engine started at Cable Airport in nearby Upland.

Residents of the heavily populated area said the craft was skimming rooftops at less than 100 feet when the pilot suddenly gave full throttle and plunged almost straight down.

The plane plummeted into the hard-packed earth of the Emerson Junior High School yard and exploded. Flames soon left nothing but a charred, melted skeleton of the plane. The engine dug 2½ feet into the ground. School windows were shattered.

SEATO Nations Proclaim Unity

WASHINGTON (AP)—Foreign ministers of the eight Southeast Asia Treaty countries Thursday night proclaimed their "firm unity of purpose" to block any Communist attack or subversion in their area.

Concluding a three-day strategy conference, they declared communism poses not only a potential military threat to free countries but "also an immediate and direct threat to their culture and ways of life."

A communique criticized Red China for continuing what was described as an "uncomprising attitude" toward the West.

The communique avoided, however, the strongly worded terms Secretary of State Christian A. Herter employed in denouncing the Peiping regime at Wednesday's meeting.

Two Brothers Held In Virginia Bank Robbery

ALEXANDRIA, Va. (AP)—Two brothers were held Thursday on charges of bank robbery after being arrested only short distances from the Hamilton, Va., bank held up two days ago.

The two—John Henry Boothe, 23, and William Oliver Boothe, 21—were arraigned on federal charges of robbing the Farmers & Merchants National Bank. The brothers, who are natives of Tazewell County, are accused of taking $5,750 in a holdup of the bank Tuesday.

The arraignment before U. S. Commissioner Stanley King came a few hours after the second arrest. John Henry, an AWOL soldier, was arrested early Thursday as he crawled through the window of a house three miles from the robbery scene.

Nine hours earlier, William Oliver was arrested about 20 miles away in Aldie after his girl friend called police.

A hearing for the two was set for next Thursday to enable them to obtain counsel. King set their bond at $25,000 each.

The FBI said the brothers were carrying a total of $3,841. Including $1,795 which William Boothe was quoted as saying he spent for an automobile in Washington Wednesday, all but about $100 of the bank loot was accounted for.

construction that is involved in strategic bases easily or quickly, and they don't know precisely how much information we have about them."

6. Gates' order from Paris putting into effect a military alert when he realized Khrushchev was about to scuttle the summit conference was "prudent . . . proper and absolutely essential." Both President Eisenhower and Secretary of State Christian A. Herter were advised before the order went out.

He disclosed at the same time that another practice alert began Wednesday night and will continue for several days.

7. So far as he knows there was never any discussion among Eisenhower administration leaders about suspending spy plane flights as the time approached for the summit talks.

8. At a meeting of Eisenhower and other top officials five days after the spy plane was downed it was decided that the State Department should handle all further statements about the U2 and that the phony cover story would be continued.

This cover story pictured the U2 as a weather reconnaissance craft, not an espionage vehicle.

9. At a second meeting on May 9—four days later—top administration officials took the unanimous stand that Eisenhower should shoulder responsibility for the spy plane operation. Eisenhower was not present, Gates said.

Gov. Williams Endorses Kennedy

MACKINAC ISLAND, Mich. — (UPI) — Gov. G. Mennen Williams endorsed Sen. John F. Kennedy as his personal choice for president Thursday in a move that was expected to swing most if not all of Michigan's 51 Democratic national convention votes to Kennedy.

The Michigan delegation is pledged to Williams as a favorite son.

But Williams announced following a meeting here with the Massachusetts hopeful that "Sen. Kennedy is my choice for president of the United States. He knows what America wants and knows how to get it."

Wall Street Views

By JACK LEFLER
AP Business News Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—With space age stocks doing virtually all of the spiraling and the rest of the stock market marking time, Wall Street experts are advising caution and investors seem to be heeding.

"While the market has acted fairly well since early March," said the Alexander Hamilton Institute, "we believe there is still considerable confusion and continue to suggest an attitude of caution in investment matters."

The institute added that speculative activity and high volume in defense stocks are not convincing as to fundamental strength in the market.

A. M. Kidder & Co. agreed that the market hasn't been unsatisfactory "in the light of predicted further letdowns in steel and copper lines and widespread caution as to the general outlook for business."

The investment firm observed that so far the hesitant attitude hasn't been changed significantly by the possibility that failure of the summit talks might mean substantial increase in defense spending.

Kidder looks for further advances in the market in the near future although it said buying may continue to be cautious until the business outlook for the second half of the year is brought into sharper focus.

Bache & Co. notes that the inability of the Dow Jones industrial and railroad averages to move in unison often precedes a period of general irregularity.

"The possibility of this occurring," it says, "is also enhanced by the frequent appearance during the past three weeks of another form of divergence—a rise by the industrial average accompanied on the same day by more declines than advances.

Hoover Upholds Death Penalty

WASHINGTON (UPI)—FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover joined in the controversy over capital punishment Wednesday by declaring that the death penalty is needed to check such "atrocious crimes" as atomic spying and plane bombing.

Writing in the monthly FBI Law Enforcement Bulletin, he cited atomic spies Julius and Ethel Rosenberg and youthful plane bomber Jack Graham as examples of criminals who clearly deserved the death penalty.

"To abolish the death penalty would absolve other Rosenbergs and Grahams from fear of the consequences for committing atrocious crimes," he wrote.

In an apparent reference to the furor over the execution of Caryl Chessman, the FBI chief urged Americans to give serious thought to the question of capital punishment which "has sent a storm of controversy thundering across our nation."

NEW YORK (AP)—With space age stocks doing virtually all of the spiraling and the rest of the stock market marking time, Wall Street experts are advising caution and investors seem to be heeding.

"While the market has acted fairly well since early March," said the Alexander Hamilton Institute, "we believe there is still considerable confusion and continue to suggest an attitude of caution in investment matters."

The institute added that speculative activity and high volume in defense stocks are not convincing as to fundamental strength in the market.

A. M. Kidder & Co. agreed that the market hasn't been unsatisfactory "in the light of predicted further letdowns in steel and copper lines and widespread caution as to the general outlook for business."

The investment firm observed that so far the hesitant attitude hasn't been changed significantly by the possibility that failure of the summit talks might mean substantial increase in defense spending.

Kidder looks for further advances in the market in the near future although it said buying may continue to be cautious until the business outlook for the second half of the year is brought into sharper focus.

Bache & Co. notes that the inability of the Dow Jones industrial and railroad averages to move in unison often precedes a period of general irregularity.

"The possibility of this occurring," it says, "is also enhanced by the frequent appearance during the past three weeks of another form of divergence—a rise by the industrial average accompanied on the same day by more declines than advances.

Hoover Upholds Death Penalty

WASHINGTON (UPI)—FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover joined in the controversy over capital punishment Wednesday by declaring that the death penalty is needed to check such "atrocious crimes" as atomic spying and plane bombing.

Writing in the monthly FBI Law Enforcement Bulletin, he cited atomic spies Julius and Ethel Rosenberg and youthful plane bomber Jack Graham as examples of criminals who clearly deserved the death penalty.

"To abolish the death penalty would absolve other Rosenbergs and Grahams from fear of the consequences for committing atrocious crimes," he wrote.

In an apparent reference to the furor over the execution of Caryl Chessman, the FBI chief urged Americans to give serious thought to the question of capital punishment which "has sent a storm of controversy thundering across our nation."

Woman To Woman

By PATRICIA MCCORMACK

NEW YORK (UPI)—Two Broadway chorus boys and a stage manager have teamed up offstage—to fatten their income and ease the life of busy actors and actresses.

The three young men are Mel Davidson and John Ray, two dancing cowpokes of "Destry Rides Again," and Bruce Laffey, assistant state manager of "A Second String."

The three own and operate "At Yr Service"—a service that aims to do for theatrical people "anything they don't have time to do for themselves."

They decided that actors were too busy acting to have time for many of the routine chores of daily life—like remembering the wife's birthday, the mother - in-law's birthday and their own wedding anniversary.

Since the inception of the service, the three have been called on to baby sit, shop, cater at small parties, help out with hotel reservations and theatre tickets.

"We are helpful aides to living," Ray said.

"The idea for At Yr Service first occurred to us during the rehearsals and out-of-town tryout of "Destry Rides Again.'

"Everyone in the cast was going frantic trying to straighten out his life prior to the tryout tour. It occurred to us what a wonderful thing it would be if someone would provide a service that would take care of their individual needs—even if it meant walking the dog."

The three soon learned that there was a tremendous demand for such services. Then they multiplied the demand—figuring that every Broadway production must have potential customers for the personalized service.

It was at that point that they formed "At Yr Service." Ray said they've been busy ever since running errands, answering phone calls and helping out in a hundred different ways.

Strontium In Milk, Air At Safe Levels

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Amounts of radioactivity in milk, air and water in various parts of the country appear to be holding steady at levels considered safe, the U.S. Public Health Service reported Wednesday.

The data on radioactivity in the environment was published in the first of a series of PHS monthly reports designed to get the information to scientists as rapidly as possible.

The report included data on strontium 90 in milk for the month of December, 1959, which came very near the levels reported earlier in the year.

Chess Match Ends In Fatal Battle

NEW YORK (UPI) — Two men battled to the death Wednesday in a fight over their abilities as chess players.

Police said Clinton Curtis, 43, a free lance editor from Miami, and Michael L. George, 34, a seaman from Otis AFB, Mass., were playing chess in a Greenwich Village bar early Wednesday morning when they began to criticize each other's ability as a chess player.

According to witnesses, the argument became heated and Curtis threw a punch at George but missed. George, police said, then struck Curtis on the head with a beer glass. Curtis was pronounced dead on arrival at St. Vincent's Hospital.

Police said George, who is attached to the SS Trimblesford, now docked at Elizabeth, N.J., was charged with homicide.

Curtis, who also maintains a New York City address, was from the Coconut Grove section of Miami, according to police.

SRC Announces Resignation Of Pritchett; Fired, Wife Says

BALTIMORE (AP)—The Maryland Roads Commission announced in an aura of mystery Thursday that Norman M. Pritchett, its veteran chief engineer, had resigned. His wife said Pritchett was fired.

"It was all rather sudden," said Mrs. Pritchett.

"They informed my husband this afternoon that he would not be reappointed after July 1."

Asked whether Pritchett received any earlier indication that he would not be retained, Mrs. Pritchett replied:

"No, he did not."

Pritchett had gone to the New York - Baltimore baseball game and was not immediately available for comment, she added.

Mrs. Pritchett made the statements when reporters tried to reach Pritchett at his home by telephone for details of a roads commission announcement that he had resigned.

The announcement said Pritchett, a commission employe since 1928 chief engineer since 1953, was quitting his $14,200-a-year job.

A commission spokesman released this statement:

"Mrs. Norman M. Pritchett has submitted his resignation as chief engineer of the State Roads Commission of Maryland. Appointed chief engineer by the previous commission, Mr. Pritchett has served in that capacity with the present commission for one year.

"The State Roads Commission has accepted with regret Mr. Pritchett's resignation and has appointed Mr. David H. Fisher, chief of the division of administration, to be chief engineer, effective July 1, 1960.

"Mr. Pritchett advised the commission he is taking the step in order to enter private business. Because of his long experience with the commission and his broad knowledge of Maryland's highway system, the commission has asked Mr. Pritchett to postpone his entry into private work and serve with the commission temporarily in a consulting capacity.

"Mr. Pritchett has kindly agreed to this arrangement."

Atty. Gen. C. Ferdinand Sybert said "a substantial difference" in pension benefits is determined by whether an official resigns from state service or is dismissed.

"As a matter of fact, it's about twice as great (if he is dismissed)," said the attorney general.

The chief engineer's annual salary is scheduled to rise to $16,500 beginning July 1.

Fisher, 46, is a civil engineering graduate of Johns Hopkins University and served from 1951-59 as a public works official in Baltimore County.

John B. Funk, who was appointed State Roads Commission chairman last year, earlier directed the Baltimore County Department of Public Works.

The commission, frequently criticized by members of the Democrat-controlled Legislature during the eight-year administration of Republican Gov. Theodore R. McKeldin, was expanded from three members to seven last year under newly elected Democratic Gov. J. Millard Tawes.

One of the criticisms by lawmakers was that the commission members placed too great a responsibility on the chief engineer.

Fisher joineed the state agency last year after serving under Funk, who was Baltimore County roads chief before being named SRC head by Tawes.

The 1960 Legislature virtually scrapped the State's 12-year, billion-dollar road program begun in 1952 and approved a five-year plan proposed by the new commission to accelerate construction of main highways. Under the old program, the commission was required to adhere rigidly to a formula which some officials believed weighed too heavily in favor of secondary-road construction at the expense of primary roads.

Johnson Campaign Headquarters Will Be Set Up

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Speaker Sam Rayburn announced Thursday that a national campaign headquarters is being established in Washington to push the candidacy of Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson for the Democratic presidential nomination.

Rayburn, Johnson's self - proclaimed campaign manager, predicted that his fellow Texan will go into the Democratic national convention at Los Angeles July 11 with at least 500 first ballot votes. A total of 761 is needed for nomination.

Johnson never has formally declared himself a candidate, but Rayburn dismissed this as an unimportant detail. He said Johnson's campaign has been "kicked off for some time" and that Johnson has previously stated his name would be presented to the convention as a candidate.

Rayburn announced at a news conference formation of a "citizen's committee for Lyndon Johnson for president" headed by Oscar Chapman, former interior secretary, as chairman. Mrs. India Edwards, former vice chairman of the Democratic National Committee, will serve as co-chairman, and John Connally, a long-time friend and political associate of Johnson in Texas, will be executive director.

All four were in Rayburn's office where the "announcement" was made. Newsmen and television photographers jammed into the room for the event.

BANDIT'S "THANK YOU" CARD—Vern Elsken glumly reads an engraved greeting card he got in the mail after his Long Beach, Calif., tavern was robbed of $37 by a gunman. "Thanks for everything," said the message inside, signed "You Know Who." On the card's face is a drawing of a man wearing a barrel as another man walks off with his clothes and money. Image Of Ike, 'Man Of Peace,' Clouded In Asia

By JOHN RODERICK

TOKYO (AP)—Less than six months ago President Eisenhower made a triumphant "peace with justice" tour of Asia. His return to this troubled region this month is compared in a Tokyo newspaper to a military inspection.

Last December, the U.S. chief executive drew the applause of enthusiastic millions in India, Pakistan and Afghanistan who contrasted his apparent desire for peace with the belligerency of neighboring Communist China.

Now, the failure of the summit conference, deepening hostility from the entire Communist bloc and internal strife in Japan over the new U.S.-Japanese security pact threaten to cloud this image of "the man who cherishes peace."

Eisenhower goes to the Philippines, Okinawa, Formosa, South Korea and Japan starting June 14. American men or materials —sometimes both—help stiffen the defenses of these areas against the threat of communism.

Okinawa is the biggest U.S. base in Asia, a heavily armed stationary aircraft carrier.

There are three major American bases in the Philippines—Clark Air Base, headquarters of U.S. naval forces at Sangley Point and Subic Naval Base, where the big U.S. 7th Fleet puts in to refuel and undergo repairs.

U.S. advisers, arms and planes bolster the defenses of Formosa, seat of the Nationalist government of Chiang Kai-shek since it fled the mainland a decade ago.

U.S. soldiers stand shoulder to shoulder with Koreans on the front lines in South Korea.

American naval and airmen are on the alert at five big naval bases and six major air bases in Japan.

Everywhere but in Japan Eisenhower's impending visit has been received with satisfaction as a sign the United States is stiffening its determination to stand fast against the Communists.

The classification of trains will be almost automatic through the electronic retarder system.

Color television sets contain more than twice as many parts as the typical black and white sets.

Because 72.6 per cent of U.S. adults carry them, many candidates will advertise on book matches in this presidential year.

Timonium Fair Upheld On Tax Appeal

BALTIMORE (AP) — The state from about $20,000 in taxes Thursfair at Timonium won a reprieve day.

The Maryland Tax Court voted 3-1 to reverse the Appeal Tax Court of Baltimore County which had approved an assessment of $794,745 on the race track and midway at the fair.

The county court held that only property devoted to the fair itself should be exempt from taxation.

The fair appealed to the state court, claiming it was entitled to full exemption on all its property as a non-profit organization engaged in either charitable or educational purposes.

Judges Cornelius P. Mundy, Joseph M. Mathias and John Wood Logan agreed with the fair's contention. Judge Lawrence B. Fenneman disagreed in a minority opinion.

Fenneman said he accepted the legal recognition of the state fair as a non-profit organization entitled to some exemption.

But he said it should be limited to only the property "used for the purposes of an agricultural fair.

"I cannot conceive how, within the purview of the exemption statute, the racing activities engaged in by Timonium can be construed as being conducted for a charitable or an educational purpose."

Fenneman could not agree either with testimony by Daniel B. Brewster, president of Timonium, that the income from racing was necessary for operation of the fair.

"It is a matter of public record that in 1959, 17 county fairs were held in Maryland and only 5 were authorized to conduct horse racing with pari-mutuel betting in connection with the fair," Fenneman stated.

Laborer Jailed In Slaying Case

BEL AIR, Md. (AP) — Willis Gullion, 39, was held in the Bel Air jail Thursday without bail on a charge of killing his brother-in-law.

Guillion was arrested by State Police along with two other men who knew the victim, Ronald Lee Hawks, 23, for questioning after Hawks' body was found in a shallow grave in the basement of an old farmhouse near Bel Air.

The body was discovered Tuesday by Hawks father, Edgar P. Hawks, 65, who had dropped into the house to get a drink of water.

Gullion, a laborer who lives in a trailer park on Toll Gate Road, was taken into custody Wednesday.

State Police Cp. Theodore S. Moyer said Gullion and the two other suspects had been drinking in a tavern Feb. 22, the night before Hawks' father reported his son missing. An unidentified woman was implicated in the motive of the killing. Police said both Gullion and Hawks had been separated from their wives.

Hawks died of multiple head injuries. Police said a blunt instrument, such as a club or piece of pipe, may have been used.

His father, who lives on the same property where the body was found, said he noted a fresh mound of earth in the basement and began digging with his hands. He then used a shovel. When he uncovered a leg, he contacted police.

The body was tentatively identified by his father who said he recognized the clothing. The FBI confirmed the identification through fingerprints.

Attorney Is Fined $5,000 On Tax Count

BALTIMORE (AP) — Douglas N. Sharretts, 50-year-old attorney, was fined a total of $5,000 Thursday for failing to file income tax returns before the deadline for 1954 and 1955.

The fines were imposed by Federal District Judge Roszel C. Thomsen after Sharretts changed his plea from innocent to no contest.

The judge fined him $2,500 for each of the two years involved and specified that Sharretts must pay the $2,500 for the 1955 offense within four months or face imprisonment.

Evidence introduced before an all-male jury during the day and a half trial disclosed that Sharretts' gross income for the two years totaled $33,433.

Appeal By Md. Pen Inmate Is Denied

SALISBURY (AP) — An inmate of the Maryland Penitentiary Thursday was ordered to complete his 15-year sentence after his appeal under the State Post-Conviction Procedure Act was denied.

The appeal was heard by Wicomico County Circuit Judge E. McMaster Duer.

David N. Harris, Negro, serving the term for burglarizing the home of Salisbury Councilman Milton Clarke, argued that he was convicted in 1958 under a faulty indictment.

State Traffic Toll 16 Ahead Of Last Year

By The Associated Press

Maryland's highway accident death toll reached 226 for 1960 Thursday compared to 208 a year ago.

The latest victims were William Jefferson Everle, 27, of Piney Point, St. Marys County, and Mrs. Virgie May Harris, 51, of Edgewood.

Earle was killed Wednesday night when his car left Willows road one mile north of Maryland 5 in St. Marys County near Lexington Park and overturned.

Mrs. Harris died in a Havre de Grace Hospital of injuries late Wednesday. Her car was sideswiped by another auto on Maryland 7 about two miles north of Edgewood, Harford County.

Several hours later, police arrested R. E. Mikkonenen, 34, at his Joppa Home. They charged him with reckless driving, driving without a license and failing to stop after a personal injury accident.

Bad Checks For Auto Tags Total $110,000

BALTIMORE (AP) — The Department of Motor Vehicles has received more than $110,000 in bad checks from Maryland motorists for 1960-61 license tags but the DMV stands a good chance of getting the money back, plus interest.

Commissioner John R. Jewell said the bad checks are running about 10 per cent more than the bouncers totaling $89,073 taken in last year.

Officials pointed out that effective June 1 the penalty for rendering a bad check increased from $2 per check to $5.

Jobs More Plentiful

WASHINGTON (UePI) — Labor Scretary James P. Mitchell says summer jobs for vacationing students will be more plentiful this year than at any time since 1957, but there still will be plenty of competition.

Mitchell, in his annual "open letter" to young people seeking summer employment, said that about five million college and high school students under 20 were expected to be in the nation's labor force by July.

"Altogether, there are nearly 100 different kinds of jobs commonly held by young people at this time of the year," he added.

Sacco-Vanzetti Case

"The Sacco-Vanzetti Story," a two-part drama around the sensational trial of the two radicals in 1920, will start to unfold on NBC-TV 8:30 p. m. EST tonight. It was written by Reginald Rose who wrote "Twelve Angry Men," another courtroom drama that went on to fame and fortune in the movies, and will be directed by Sidney Lumet who also directed "Twelve Angry Men."

Sacco and Vanzetti were executed for the murder of a payroll guard after a seven-year fight to free them. "You ask," said Mr. Rose, "if I think this show bears any resemblance to the case of Caryl Chessman. The whole issue in the Chessman case was the abolition of capital punishment and this has nothing to do with the Sacco-Vanzetti case. The issue in their case was whether they were guilty of murder or guilty because they were radicals, socialists, anarchists."

Sacco and Vanzetti were arrested and tried during a period of hysteria against radicals unlike anything this country has seen since. Bombs were being sent through the mail and everyone with a foreign accent or foreign ways was under suspicion as a revolutionary.

"I didn't know very much about the case when I began the research," Rose admits, "I didn't even know who had been murdered. Now I think Sacco and Vanzetti were not guilty. But I hope I am not biased. There was no attempt to make editorial comment. The viewer will decide for himself. It's a terribly strong script and I say some pretty strong things. Part One shows the facts of the case, ending with the trial. Part Two deals with why they were executed.

"They were intelligent, lovely, gentle people. I agreed to do the show because what it has to say in terms of history is boiled down into one quote from Albert Einstein we've used in the play: "'Everything should be done to keep alive the tragic affair of Sacco and Vanzetti in the conscience of mankind. They remind us of the fact that even the most perfectly planned democratic institutions are no better than the people whose instruments they are.'"

Rose said he thought the show might be useful as a lesson from the past for the present. "It is not until years later that reason begins to prevail. Sacco and Vanzetti were killed in 1927. Now we can look back on it with some detachment. It is valuable to be able to look back in history and say: here he went wrong and here we were right."

Even after all these years Sacco and Vanzetti are still fighting words in some quarters, especially in Boston where one columnist has asked that his readers write the sponsor (Purex) and protest. But both Purex, which has sponsored some excellent and very controversial shows in the past, and NBC are standing fast and Rose declared himself to be "amazed and delighted about the whole thing."

"The direction and the acting are amazing. This is my first experience where there has been no interference by sponsor or agency. I would like to meet the Purex people. Even on Playhouse 90 there was annoying nonsense from the agency. I have never heard a word from anyone at Purex."

Rose got off the subject of television and on to some of his other pet peeves: the movies and Broadway: "I hate working for the movies. I did two pictures, 'A Man of the West' with that great American actor Gary Cooper and 'The Man in the Net' with that other great actor, Alan Ladd. I'm very bitter about the whole experience I had making movies. I'd only make another if it were my own script or if I were co-producer. Movies are worse than ever. But I love them."

On the subject of the stage, Rose had some cutting and very true observations about the state of Broadway. "I have never written anything I couldn't get on television. There is a far worse censorship on Broadway which says if you ain't got a star or a name director you can't put on a play. On Broadway they're solely concerned with money and economics, which is a far more crippling censorship than saying dirty words on the air."

Merchant Fleet Ruling

THE HAGUE, Netherlands (AP) —The World Court will announce on June 7 its opinion on how to determine the size of a nation's merchant fleet. Liberia, with U.S. and Panamanian support, contends size should be decided by total tonnage under each national flag. Britain and some others contend investment and ownership should prevail over the tonnages built up by so-called registration of convenience.

The largest seeds are those of the double cocoanut. They hit about 40 pounds.

Television and Radio

Sacco-Vanzetti Case

"The Sacco-Vanzetti Story," a two-part drama around the sensational trial of the two radicals in 1920, will start to unfold on NBC-TV 8:30 p. m. EST tonight. It was written by Reginald Rose who wrote "Twelve Angry Men," another courtroom drama that went on to fame and fortune in the movies, and will be directed by Sidney Lumet who also directed "Twelve Angry Men."

Sacco and Vanzetti were executed for the murder of a payroll guard after a seven-year fight to free them. "You ask," said Mr. Rose, "if I think this show bears any resemblance to the case of Caryl Chessman. The whole issue in the Chessman case was the abolition of capital punishment and this has nothing to do with the Sacco-Vanzetti case. The issue in their case was whether they were guilty of murder or guilty because they were radicals, socialists, anarchists."

Sacco and Vanzetti were arrested and tried during a period of hysteria against radicals unlike anything this country has seen since. Bombs were being sent through the mail and everyone with a foreign accent or foreign ways was under suspicion as a revolutionary.

"I didn't know very much about the case when I began the research," Rose admits, "I didn't even know who had been murdered. Now I think Sacco and Vanzetti were not guilty. But I hope I am not biased. There was no attempt to make editorial comment. The viewer will decide for himself. It's a terribly strong script and I say some pretty strong things. Part One shows the facts of the case, ending with the trial. Part Two deals with why they were executed.

"They were intelligent, lovely, gentle people. I agreed to do the show because what it has to say in terms of history is boiled down into one quote from Albert Einstein we've used in the play:

"'Everything should be done to keep alive the tragic affair of Sacco and Vanzetti in the conscience of mankind. They remind us of the fact that even the most perfectly planned democratic institutions are no better than the people whose instruments they are.'"

Rose said he thought the show might be useful as a lesson from the past for the present. "It is not until years later that reason begins to prevail. Sacco and Vanzetti were killed in 1927. Now we can look back on it with some detachment. It is valuable to be able to look back in history and say: here he went wrong and here we were right."

Even after all these years Sacco and Vanzetti are still fighting words in some quarters, especially in Boston where one columnist has asked that his readers write the sponsor (Purex) and protest. But both Purex, which has sponsored some excellent and very controversial shows in the past, and NBC are standing fast and Rose declared himself to be "amazed and delighted about the whole thing."

"The direction and the acting are amazing. This is my first experience where there has been no interference by sponsor or agency. I would like to meet the Purex people. Even on Playhouse 90 there was annoying nonsense from the agency. I have never heard a word from anyone at Purex."

Rose got off the subject of television and on to some of his other pet peeves: the movies and Broadway: "I hate working for the movies. I did two pictures, 'A Man of the West' with that great American actor Gary Cooper and 'The Man in the Net' with that other great actor, Alan Ladd. I'm very bitter about the whole experience I had making movies. I'd only make another if it were my own script or if I were co-producer. Movies are worse than ever. But I love them."

On the subject of the stage, Rose had some cutting and very true observations about the state of Broadway. "I have never written anything I couldn't get on television. There is a far worse censorship on Broadway which says if you ain't got a star or a name director you can't put on a play. On Broadway they're solely concerned with money and economics, which is a far more crippling censorship than saying dirty words on the air."

Merchant Fleet Ruling

THE HAGUE, Netherlands (AP)—The World Court will announce on June 7 its opinion on how to determine the size of a nation's merchant fleet. Liberia, with U.S. and Panamanian support, contends size should be decided by total tonnage under each national flag. Britain and some others contend investment and ownership should prevail over the tonnages built up by so-called registration of convenience.

The largest seeds are those of the double cocoanut. They hit about 40 pounds.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD—With "Pollyanna" paying off in boxcar figures for Walt Disney and bringing wholesome movies back in style again, it's pleasant news that another classic of cleanliness, Gene Stratton Porter's "Freckles," is headed for the screen.

Bob Lippert has put together a deal wherein two newcomers will be starred. The boy who will play "Freckles" is Martin West, 22-year-old, 6-foot, 1-inch redhead who is being imported from the Broadway cast of "The Andersonville Trial" to make his debut in Hollywood. Martin is a "natural" for the title role—when he was a kid he won a contest for the boy with the most freckles in the whole U.S.A.—and he's kept most of them.

The girl, Carol Christensen, a Sandy Meisner drama student, steps right out of his classroom into the femme lead. Set to produce is Harry Spalding with Anday McLagen, the late Vic's son directing.

A new stage musical version of "Meet Me in St. Louis" opens at the Municipal Auditorium in St. Louis on June 9. Sally Benson, author of "Meet Me in St. Louis," whom I have known since she was a little girl, tells me that Peggy King has the Judy Garland role.

"We were able to get 'The Trolley Song' and 'Boy Next Door' from MGM," said Sally, "and the composers Ralph Blaine and Hugh Martin have written eight more tunes."

Sally has been in Hollywood off and on since January to script "Jumbo" for MGM, but the writers strike interfered. "In the meantime I'm doing 'Chocolate for Breakfast' for Bernice Block who has made a separate deal with the writers," Sally said.

George Raft has been looking around for a stage play but he had no idea one would come along so soon. He'll make his first stage appearance in years in "Broadway" opening in Chicago July 12. He was signed by Chicago's Drury Lane producer Carl Stohn, Jr., who is so sure that George will be big boxoffice bait that he has tied him up for a four week run. co-starring with Raft is Allen Jenkins.

I agree with Mr. Stohn that George has many fans who will flock to see him in a stage play. Whenever he shows up around the Hollywood late spots he gets plenty of attention from the autograph hounds.

At a small dinner party given by Ann and Jack Warner, I was charmed with Marion Tilton who came with Arnold Grant. She's an American girl who has lived in Tokyo for 14 years and has built up a highly successful textile business. She told me there was no fear of Communism in Tokyo, and that the students who rioted got out of hand and caused more of a demonstration than was expected.

Ann Warner, who had seen former King Leopold's "Masters of the Congo Jungle," the most fantastic movie of wild animal life to come out of the jungles, showed us the picture. Roz Russell was at her wittiest best. The Sterling Hibbards, who sold the Warners their ranch in Arizona, were among the guests. Others enjoying the evening were Freddie Brisson, Richard Gully, Stephanie (Mrs. Efrem Zimbalist), Jimmy McHugh and myself.

Efrem Zimbalist makes no secret that he's going to marry Kipp Hamilton as soon as his six weeks' sentence is up in Reno. Pretty Stephanie Zimbalist, his wife, was advised to get an attorney and fight her case, but she said, "What good would it do if he doesn't want me."

They have a four and a half year old daughter, and Efrem has two children by a former marraige.

Tony Martin, who is as much a part of the best nightclubs as the cover charge, tries his wings in something new when he opens June 6 at the Oakdale Theatre, Wallingford, Conn., in a revue which is now operating under the title of "The Tony Martin Musical."

It's a full length show, highlighted of course by Tony's singing, and he's been working on the idea for a long time. From Connecticut he'll take the show to Toronto, work out some of the kinks, and then bring it into Broadway later this year.

Other members of the board of governors are Mayor Joseph Jame. of Frostburg, William H. Lemmert, former county commissioner and now assistant supervisor of assessments for Allegany County; Francis Carrington, teacher at Beall Elementary School; John J. Rowan, president of the Allegany County Board of Commissioners. Carpenter is a Frostburg businessman while Hines is an official at the Amcelle plant of Celanese Fibers Company.

The board members were named jointly by the Mayor and Council of Frostburg and Allegany County Board of Commissioners.

Action was taken some months ago as the State of Maryland is withdrawing both financial and administrative control of the hospital as of June 30.

The election of the hospital board officers was held in the Town Hall at Frostburg.

Answers Your Problems

DEAR READERS: A blizzard of complaining letters is blowing in from all over the country. Many readers disagree with the advice I gave the mother whose 16-year-old daughter receives $40 a month from her deceased father's estate.

The mother has remarried and has four other children. She stated the stepfather is having a hard time making ends meet. She doesn't know if it's right to use the girl's $40 a month for necessities for the entire family.

I reminded the mother that the money was NOT left to the family — it was left to the daughter — and I suggested it be put away for the girl's college education.

My advice still stands. However, here are some dissenting views from readers who have presented well-reasoned arguments against my position. They deserve to be heard.

ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN: I usually agree with you but I think you're way off the beam on your advice to the mother of the 16-year-old girl regarding the $40 a month..

I say the stepfather should use that money to support the girl. After all, that's what it was left for, isn't it? The mother said they were having a hard time financially. Although $40 a month is a drop in the bucket toward total support of a 16-year-old, it would help some.

RICHMOND VA.

DEAR ANN: You are wrong. If the stepfather wanted the $40 a month to pay for a third Cadillac, I'd say no — but it was stated clearly that the money would come in handy as there are four other children.

Why should the four kids have to share what they have with this stepsister, while she gets to put away her $40 a month for a college education?

LITTLE ROCK, ARK.

DEAR ANN: If you're going to get so ding-blamed technical about the $40 a month inheritance, I say the girl should then buy her own clothes, do her own laundry and pay her stepdad a quarter for every load of washing she does in his machine.

She should also pay him for room and board, electricity and heat. If he drives her to school she should pay him the same amount as she'd pay a bus-driver.

How commercial can you get?

HUTCHINSON, KANSAS

DEAR ANN: The stepfather doesn't owe this girl anything. He married her mother. I think it's stupid of the mother to make an issue of the $40 inheritance. She should fork it right over to the old man. If you'd let the average 16-year-old girl today decide what to do with $40 a month she'd buy bobby-pins, records, popcorn and eyebrow pencil with it.

PITTSBURG

DEAR ANN: I'm in exactly the same spot as the mother who wrote to you — only my daughter is 14. This girl gets the same privileges of the home and enjoys the comforts provided for her the same as the rest of the children. She doesn't get any less than her stepsisters nor does she get any more. The $40 left to her is used to help run the house. And let me tell you, it doesn't go very far.

PORT HURON, MICHIGAN

DEAR ANN: What difference does it make whose money it is legally? The girl has a moral obligation to share "her" $40 with the rest of the family. Period.

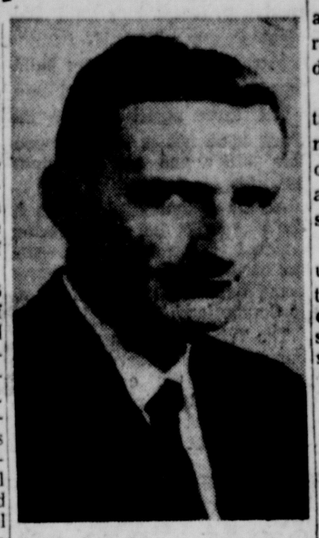
Former Local Man Gets U. S. Law Appointment



JOHN P. DIUGUID

John Powell Diuguid, a graduate of Allegany High School in 1950, has been named an attorney in the Criminal Division of the Department of Justice, Washington, D. C.

Diuguid's appointment came under the attorney general's program for honor law graduates in which outstanding graduates are employed in various divisions of the Department of Justice.

He is one of approximately 95 chosen this year from a field of over 600 exceptionally qualified students of 47 law schools, according to Philip H. Modlin, director of the honor program. Purpose of the program is twofold. First, the department needs topflight, young lawyers; and second, the legal profession will benefit from the training and knowledge the young men will carry with them into private practice.

Diuguid resides at 4301 Ferrara Drive, Silver Spring, and is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Hampton Diuguid, formerly of LaVale, who reside at 4802 Wilmslow Road, Baltimore. His wife is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank H. Sweene, Woodlawn Avenue, LaVale.

While at Allegany, Diuguid was named Maryland boy governor in the Model Legislature at Annapolis. He holds an A.B. degree from Virginia Military Institute and an LL.B., from George Washington University. Diuguid will be admitted to the Maryland Bar June 10.

Increase In Students

TOKYO (UPI) — Communist China said Wednesday there were 90 million primary school students on the mainland at the end of 1959, or 26 million more than in 1957 before the introduction of the "people's communes."

Prof. Haines Heads W.V. French Teachers

KEYSER—Kenneth F. Haines, member of the modern language faculty at Potomac State College, was elected president of the West Virginia Chapter of the American Association of Teachers of French, at the group's spring meeting held in Charleston, W. Va.

Haines had served previously as secretary for three years as well as vice president during the past year.

Other officers include Michael Beauchemin, Department of Romance Languages, West Virginia University, as vice president and Mrs. Elsie V. Bolin, Charleston, as secretary-treasurer.

Haines recently received a Fulbright grant for summer study at the University of Paris, France

New Rocket Flight Guide Demonstrated

NEW YORK (AP)—A new ceramic pathfinder to help guide a rocket's flight into space was demonstrated Wednesday.

It is an improved gyroscope, 10 times more accurate than previous models, but weighing only eight ounces, a spokesman for Minneapolis-Honeywell Regulator Co. said.

It is accurate enough to measure motion 7,500 times slower than the hour hand on a clock, and is expected to have a running life of some 40,000 hours, spokesmen said.

Men's Club To Meet

The Men's Club of the First Methodist Church will meet at the church Saturday at 6 p. m. for a covered dish supper. This will be followed by a movie and and business meeting.

Johannesburg, the largest city in troubled South Africa, has many skyscrapers. But the city extends farther down than up. Three gold mines inside Johannesburg's municipal area reach more than 9,000 feet below the National Geographic magazine says. Modern scientific techniques and air cooling make it possible for men to work deep underground.

Police Chief Urges Highway Safety

Fort Cumberland Lodge of the Fraternal Order of Police has launched its summer highway safety campaign, according to Police Chief B. Frank Gaffney.

Chief Gaffney said: "Today most Americans think nothing of piling the entire family into a car and taking a cross-country vacation trip. It's the job of the police to help the family get back home safely."

Using the slogan, "For Safety's Sake, Stop For A Coffee Break," the Cumberland Police Department and FOP Lodge is going all out to remind motorists to be especially alert to the greatly increased dangers of highway travel during the vacation season.

Chief Gaffney said: "This summer Cumberlanders will be on the go in record numbers and the period between Memorial Day and Labor Day could see traffic deaths climb to an all-time high in the area if motorists don't make every possible effort to prevent accidents."

Chief Gaffney recommends the following safety suggestions:

Always be ready for the unexpected. You may be the best driver in the world, but you can be as dead as the worst one if you don't stay alert to potential hazards ahead and behind.

Don't try to drive too far in one day. Break up long trips by stopping at least every two hours for a coffee-break. It's better to get there late than not at all.

Keep night driving to a minimum. That's the worst time for accidents; besides, your vacation will be more enjoyable if you arrive refreshed and relaxed than if you have to spend the first few days of it recovering from a long grind behind the wheel.

Use your common sense. Obey all traffic regulations, especially speed laws. Speed is America's number one highway killer!

Former Local Man Gets U. S. Law Appointment

JOHN P. DIUGUID

John Powell Diuguid, a graduate of Allegany High School in 1950, has been named an attorney in the Criminal Division of the Department of Justice, Washington, D. C.

Diuguid's appointment came under the attorney general's program for honor law graduates in which outstanding graduates are employed in various divisions of the Department of Justice.

He is one of approximately 95 chosen this year from a field of over 600 exceptionally qualified students of 47 law schools, according to Philip H. Modlin, director of the honor program. Purpose of the program is twofold. First, the department needs topflight, young lawyers; and second, the legal profession will benefit from the training and knowledge the young men will carry with them into private practice.

Diuguid resides at 4301 Ferrara Drive, Silver Spring, and is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Hampton Diuguid, formerly of LaVale, who reside at 4802 Wilmslow Road, Baltimore. His wife is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank H. Sweene, Woodlawn Avenue, LaVale.

While at Allegany, Diuguid was named Maryland boy governor in the Model Legislature at Annapolis. He holds an A.B. degree from Virginia Military Institute and an LL.B., from George Washington University. Diuguid will be admitted to the Maryland Bar June 10.

Make use of these sitting exercises and you're sure to be "fresh on arrival!"

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Travel Tips

Resorts beckon, the sea-shore entices, the country calls us away . . . you are almost sure to be going some place this summer.

But it takes a seasoned traveler to know how to sit for hours without suffering cricks, rigidity pains and other discomforts.

Whatever means of travel you choose, there are sitting exercises you can do that will refresh you amazingly and get you to your destination delightfully free from bone weariness.

For one, consider this: Start at your toes (yes, with your shoes on) and flex each toe separately. Really feel each toe pulling up and straightening.

Now give your ankles attention. Stretch one foot out straight, then pull it up as far as you can. Circle it first to the right, then to the left. Next, give your other foot a workout.

Concentrating with all your might, work right straight up your body. Flex your calf muscles, not once but several times. Next, make your thigh muscles do tricks. Pull them outward and then inward, ten times in each direction.

Stretch your spine, pulling yourself up so you sit your very tallest. Relax. Do it again and again. Now pull your waist out of your hips and your chest out of your waist and your shoulder up from your chest in rapid succession on your left side only. Do the same on your right. Alternate this activity ten times. Then take ten deep breaths.

Rotate your shoulders in unison in as wide circles as you can, starting forward, down and then back, up and forward again.

The chin and neck are next. Drop your chin to your chest, swing it to the left, straight back and over to the right side and down to the chest again. Stretch in all directions, as far as you can.

Even while driving a car, you can perform many of these actions and it will relieve tension, fatigue and boredom. If you are a passenger, you can perform all of them. Some can be carried out without calling attention to yourself, even in planes or trains.

Use a little ingenuity and your system will never resent sitting for hours. You'll arrive anywhere feeling your very fittest for whatever fun you have planned!

And don't forget to continue to strive for the beneficial effects of exercise once you reach your destination . . . You may not have planned a very active vacation, but you can still enhance your grace by following my simple dancing routines, as set forth in my booklet, DANCE THROUGH A WEEK TO BEAUTY. Just send 10c and a stamped, self-addressed envelope to me, JRP, c/o this newspaper.

TOMORROW: Don't forget hair care!

Housing Unit Under Study

The possibility of a fourth low-rent housing project has been raised for the near future.

Mayor J. Edwin Keech said yesterday he has been informed by James B. Raines, executive director of the Cumberland Housing Authority, that a long-range 65-unit project was discussed at yesterday's meeting of the Authority.

Keech said he will inform other members of council with the view in mind of setting up a conference with an official of the regional Public Housing Authority from Philadelphia. Details of the availability of the new project will be discussed then.

Three other projects have been constructed or are in the process of being erected here since 1952.

The first was Jane Frazier Village in the Mapleside area with a total of 125 units, August 2, 1952; the second Benjamin Bannecker Homes on Frederick Streeet with 30 units, June, 1953; and the third under construction on Oldtown Road, Fort Cumberland Homes, which will have 80 units when completed in October.

Added to the 235 units which will be available in October, the fourth project would bring to 300 the number of low-rent units in the four projects.

City Health Board To Meet Monday

The City Health Board will meet Monday at 1:30 p. m. in the office of Mayor J. Edwin Keech.

Topics to be discussed include housing regulations, licensing of hotels and apartment houses and unauthorized repairs of substandard housing.

More than 90 per cent of American homes have electric irons and 60 per cent have vacuum cleaners.

Police Covered 10,820 Miles Over Weekend

All twenty-eight officers assigned to the barracks were on duty with 23 patrolling in Allegany and five in Garrett County.

The accumulated duty hours the troopers spent on the roads amounted to 882 hours, Lt. O'Hara said.

There were 48 arrests made and 219 warrants issued.

Travel Tips

Resorts beckon, the sea-shore entices, the country calls us away . . . you are almost sure to be going some place this summer.

But it takes a seasoned traveler to know how to sit for hours without suffering cricks, rigidity pains and other discomforts.

Whatever means of travel you choose, there are sitting exercises you can do that will refresh you amazingly and get you to your destination delightfully free from bone weariness.

For one, consider this: Start at your toes (yes, with your shoes on) and flex each toe separately. Really feel each toe pulling up and straightening.

Now give your ankles attention. Stretch one foot out straight, then pull it up as far as you can. Circle it first to the right, then to the left. Next, give your other foot a workout.

Concentrating with all your might, work right straight up your body. Flex your calf muscles, not once but several times. Next, make your thigh muscles do tricks. Pull them outward and then inward, ten times in each direction.

Stretch your spine, pulling yourself up so you sit your very tallest. Relax. Do it again and again. Now pull your waist out of your hips and your chest out of your waist and your shoulder up from your chest in rapid succession on your left side only. Do the same on your right. Alternate this activity ten times. Then take ten deep breaths.

Rotate your shoulders in unison in as wide circles as you can, starting forward, down and then back, up and forward again.

The chin and neck are next. Drop your chin to your chest, swing it to the left, straight back and over to the right side and down to the chest again. Stretch in all directions, as far as you can.

Even while driving a car, you can perform many of these actions and it will relieve tension, fatigue and boredom. If you are a passenger, you can perform all of them. Some can be carried out without calling attention to yourself, even in planes or trains.

Use a little ingenuity and your system will never resent sitting for hours. You'll arrive anywhere feeling your very fittest for whatever fun you have planned!

And don't forget to continue to strive for the beneficial effects of exercise once you reach your destination . . . You may not have planned a very active vacation, but you can still enhance your grace by following my simple dancing routines, as set forth in my booklet, DANCE THROUGH A WEEK TO BEAUTY. Just send 10c and a stamped, self-addressed envelope to me, JRP, c/o this newspaper.

Housing Unit Under Study

The possibility of a fourth low-rent housing project has been raised for the near future.

Mayor J. Edwin Keech said yesterday he has been informed by James B. Raines, executive director of the Cumberland Housing Authority, that a long-range 65-unit project was discussed at yesterday's meeting of the Authority.

Keech said he will inform other members of council with the view in mind of setting up a conference with an official of the regional Public Housing Authority from Philadelphia. Details of the availability of the new project will be discussed then.

Three other projects have been constructed or are in the process of being erected here since 1952.

The first was Jane Frazier Village in the Mapleside area with a total of 125 units, August 2, 1952; the second Benjamin Bannecker Homes on Frederick Streeet with 30 units, June, 1953; and the third under construction on Oldtown Road, Fort Cumberland Homes, which will have 80 units when completed in October.

Added to the 235 units which will be available in October, the fourth project would bring to 300 the number of low-rent units in the four projects.

City Health Board To Meet Monday

Classic Lesson In Economics

There is a story to the effect that a king, seeking to understand the science of economics, sent for all the economists in his realm. After hearing them out, he understood less of economics than he had before.

Then a page boy stepped forward and told the king that there was still one economist left, an old and wise man. The page persuaded the king to send for the sage. The king agreed only on condition that the ancient economist explain economics in one sentence.

When the old man appeared, the assignment was again explained to him. He agreed to its terms. "The science of economics," he told the king, "is contained in these nine words: There is no such thing as a free lunch."

Economic data can be argued this way and that; statistics can be made to prove all sorts of things; but in the end, one fact remains:

Somebody has to pay.

This fact is inescapable, even when the government is providing the lunch. In that case, it's the taxpayer who has to pay.

Thus, when new spending proposals are put forward as vote bait, taxpayers should always remember the free lunch. Somebody has to pay for it, and that somebody is the taxpayer, even though proponents of the plans would have him believe that he really is getting a free lunch.

What the taxpayer must ask is whether, if he buys this type of "lunch," he is getting the right kind of lunch for the right kind of money. Will he be getting his money's worth?

These Days

Please Khrushchev?

When Nikita Khrushchev postponed the Summit Conference six or eight months until after the American election, he indicated clearly that he was desirous of having a President suitable to himself. Some put this down to a gaucherie on the part of an astute but not too informed a man. Perhaps, we felt charitably, Khrushchev did not understand that our system of election did not change the government, as they say in many European countries, but only the Administration which generally speaking is the Executive Branch of the government. About one-third of the Senate and the whole of the House of Representatives stand for election but many, if not most, are reelected.

When Gromyko repeated the same idea in the United Nations, that is, that Russia would wait until a new President was elected, he indicated a direct, overt interference in the American election by Soviet Russia.

To have a look at this sort of thing, one has to go back to the Administration of John Adams, second President of the United States. In a special message to Congress, President John Adams, referring to conduct of the French government, said:

". . . The speech of the (French) President discloses sentiments more alarming than the refusal of a minister, because more dangerous to our independence and union, and at the same time studiously marked with indignities toward the Government of the United States. It evinces a disposition to separate the people of the United States from the Government, to persuade them that they have different affections, principles, and interests from those of their fellow-citizens whom they themselves have chosen to manage their common concerns, and thus to produce divisions fatal to our peace. Such attempts ought to be repelled with a decision which shall convince France and the world that we are not a degraded people, humiliated under a colonial spirit of fear and sense of inferiority, fitted to be the miserable instruments of foreign influence, and regardless of national honor, character, and interest."

Then President Adams added:

"I should have been happy to have thrown a veil over these transactions if it had been possible to conceal them; but they have passed on the great theater of the world, in the face of all Europe and America, and with such circumstances of publicity and solemnity that they can not be disguised and will not soon be forgotten . . ."

It is interesting to note how closely President Adams responded to a situation which President Eisenhower faces today, about a century and a half later. The United States did not go to war with France because of the indignities which a revolutionary government put upon us. As a matter of fact, John Adams was succeeded by Thomas Jefferson who was more favorably disposed toward the French Revolution, but in his First Inaugural, Jefferson said:

". . . I know, indeed, that some honest men fear that a republican government can not be strong, that this Government is not strong enough; but would the honest patriot, in the full tide of successful experiment, abandon a government which has so far kept us free and firm on the theoretic and visionary fear that this Government, the world's best hope, may by possibility want energy to preserve itself? I trust not. I believe this, on the contrary, the strongest Government on earth . . ."

Then he added:

". . . Kindly separated by nature and a wide ocean from the exterminating havoc of one quarter of the globe; too high-minded to endure the degradations of the others; possessing a chosen country, with room enough for our descendants to the thousandth and thousandth generation; entertaining a due sense of our equal right to the use of our own faculties, to the acquisitions of our own industry, to honor and confidence from our fellow-citizens, resulting not from birth, but from our actions and their sense of them; enlightened by a benign religion, professed, indeed, and practiced in various forms, yet all of them inculcating honesty, truth, temperance, gratitude, and the love of man; acknowledging and adoring an overruling Providence, which by all its dispensations proves that it delights in the happiness of man here and his greater happiness hereafter — with all these blessings, what more is necessary to make us a happy and a prosperous people? . . ."

It is worth while to look into our past to understand our present.

Nixon's Ex-Manager Chotiner Tries To Make His Political Comeback

By Jack Anderson

(Editor's note — While Drew Pearson is out of Washington briefly his column is written by his associate, Jack Anderson.)

WASHINGTON—Ever since the Senate rackets committee in 1956 began prying into Murray Chotiner's political influence, Vice President Nixon has sought delicately to disengage himself from the man who managed his rise from a small-town lawyer to the Vice Presidency.

But the manicured, pomaded, tastefully tailored Chotiner isn't an easy man to shake. Disregarding entreaties that his candidacy would embarrass Nixon, he determined to crash back into the inner political circles by running for Congress in California's silk-stocking Beverly Hills district.

Chotiner will submit his case to the voters next Tuesday in the Republican primary. His chief rival for the GOP nomination: millionaire Alphonzo Bell Jr., who has been serving coffee and bell-shaped cookies to the electorate.

The unspoken issue, because the candidates have been too polite to bring it into the open, is Chotiner's backstage influence in Washington. For the Senate committee found that racketeers, contractors, tax delinquents, and others in trouble with Uncle Sam had been beating a path across country to the door of Chotiner's Beverly Hills law firm.

Post-Nixon Practice

Asked behind closed doors whether he had handled "comparable cases" before Nixon became Vice President. Chotiner replied candidly: "I would say as a general statement, no. I did represent some criminal cases before 1953. Some of them were income tax cases; some were Selective Service cases. Other than that I would say not comparable."

Chotiner's influence apparently reached inside the rackets committee itself. Before public hearings could be held, the committee mysteriously dropped the investigation. Word leaked out that a counter-investigation had been threatened against Chairman John McClellan's own law firm in Little Rock, Ark., where he then shared offices with his late son, James McClellan, son-in-law Harry McDermott, and C. Hamilton Moses, long the "power" in Arkansas Power and Light.

However, this column has taken up the Chotiner investigation where the rackets committee left off. Here are the findings in a few typical cases:

1. Borman Engineering won an Air Force contract to manufacture machine gun parts for $132,667. When the company later tried to raise the price another $79,563, the Air Force refused to renegotiate. The company hired Chotiner, whose friends in Congress suddenly began bombarding the Pentagon with letters and phone calls. Congressman Glenard Lipscomb of California demanded a review of the case; Congressman Ed Hiestand of California expressed his hope that "something might be done" for Borman.

"At the request of claimant and others," reports a confidential Air Force memo, "the matter was reviewed by the secretary's office and was referred to the Contract Adjustment Board for consideration." Thereupon, Congressman Holt of California telephoned Max Golden, board chairman, to arrange a private appointment for Chotiner. Final outcome: the Air Force agreed to pay Borman $48,803 above the contract price.

2. The Post Office charged Hollywood Models, Inc., with mail fraud for using the mails to peddle a ladies' vacuum cup to be used as a bust developer. The company retained Chotiner who promptly wrote a "Dear Art" letter to Postmaster General Arthur Summerfield, saying he thought the Republicans were going to stop "petty meddling" in small business.

Summerfield Letter

Summerfield fired back a "Dear Murray" letter, agreeing to transfer the case to California and grant a postponement. Such a delay was forbidden by postal regulations except for "substantial cause." Yet with Summerfield's letter as the only supporting document, the hearing examiner granted unprecedented delays while the company continued with its mail promotion.

In the end, the Food and Drug Administration brought proceedings against the company and finally forced it out of the bust-developing business. This satisfied the Post Office.

3. For five years, the Housing and Home Finance Agency kept the Lloyd Construction Company on its "precautionary list" for questionable contracting activities. Then at a cocktail party Chotiner asked the agency's general counsel, Oakley Hunter, to end the listing. He promptly concluded that "justice had been done" and removed Lloyd Construction from the list.

Chotiner insisted to this column that all his efforts for his clients have been strictly "legal."

"I contacted anyone I thought was a proper person to contact," he said.

"Maybe," Chotiner added brightly, "a blast in the Pearson column will help elect me."

Note — This column learned that Vice President Nixon talked to at least two of Chotiner's clients about their troubles. There is no evidence, however, that he ever intervened in their behalf.

Merry-Go-Round

A lot of Republicans have been accused of running on Eisenhower's coattails, but Sen. Lyndon Johnson is the first Democrat . . . NBC's "World Wide Sixty" has been putting across some terrific shows. Started as a public service program in answer to an FCC plea, World Wide Sixty is now sponsored. Ben Grauer, who narrated "Are American Fighting Men Going Soft?" last week, will do the two-part Sacco-Vanzetti story this Friday and next . . . Sen. Everett Dirksen, the shrewd Republican Senate leader, has been bragging to friends that he has Lyndon Johnson, leader of the Democrats, eating out of his hand.

Another Case Of Red Infiltration Exposed

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — Just eight days ago, Senator Thomas J. Dodd, Democrat, of Connecticut made a startling revelation in the Senate of the United States about Communist infiltration in New York City. But his speech attracted relatively little attention. Is this because Communist infiltration in America has become commonplace, or is it because of a recent tendency to pooh-pooh the Communist menace in this country?

When, however, a committee of prominent Americans organizes a meeting in Madison Square Garden to discuss a public issue and it develops that the chief organizer of the meeting is a Communist, one would think that Americans would be outraged and that there would be public denunciation of it.

Here is an extract from Senator Dodd's speech:

"Last Thursday evening, May 19, the Committee for a Sane Nuclear Policy held a rally at Madison Square Garden in New York City. Many eminent persons attended this rally. The speakers included Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, Mr. Alfred Landon, Mr. Walter Reuther, Governor G. Mennen Williams, of Michigan, and Dr. Harold Taylor, former President of Sarah Lawrence College. At this meeting, the speakers urged that another 'summit' meeting be convened for the purpose of attempting to arrive at an agreement banning nuclear tests.

"Because I esteem the sincerity of the original founders of the Committee for a Sane Nuclear Policy and the sincerity of the speakers I have named, it was for me an unpleasant duty to have to notify them that the unpublicized chief organizer of the Madison Square Garden rally was a veteran member of the Communist Party; that there was also evidence of serious Communist infiltration at chapter level throughout the Committee for a Sane Nuclear Policy; that the Communist Party and its front organizations had done their utmost to promote the meeting; that the Communists provided much of the organizing machinery for the meeting because they planned to use it as a pressure instrument in support of Soviet nuclear diplomacy."

When this information was confirmed by the Senate Subcommittee on Internal Security a few days before the Madison Square Garden meeting was scheduled, the Connecticut Senator decided to communicate it to Norman Cousins, chairman of the Committee for a Sane Nuclear Policy, who came to Washington and they had "a long and frank discussion about the problem." Mr. Dodd found that the directors of the committee "had some inkling of the existence of the Communist infiltration," and that one of the officers of the committee, Norman Thomas, "had, as early as last January, expressed serious suspicion about the individual who later became organizer of the Madison Square Garden meeting — but that no action had been taken on Mr. Thomas' warning."

According to Senator Dodd, Mr. Cousins suspended the organizer in question immediately after their conference. The Connecticut Senator, in his speech, said:

"It is my understanding that the national committee of the organization intends to take some further measures against Communist infiltrators. If I have any criticism to make, it is that the directors of the organization have moved so slowly to confront the problem and that the measures they have taken have been inadequate. . .

"To me it is appalling that the Communists should be able to infiltrate and manipulate a movement founded on sincere humanitarian and pacifist motivations, and headed by so many reputable citizens. Perhaps this is a situation in which private citizens must have the assistance of government to cope effectively with a movement that operates by stealth and by secrecy."

Senator Dodd went on to say that "the name of the Communist Party member who served as chief organizer of the Madison Square Garden meeting is Henry H. Abrams," and he told in some detail not only of Abrams' "long and fairly prominent association" with the Committee for a Sane Nuclear Policy but of his activities with Communist-front organizations and his Communist record that began in 1939 and has continued ever since. The Connecticut Senator said:

"I state all these things as facts. On Friday, May 13, Henry Abrams was given the opportunity to deny them in a hearing of the Senate Subcommittee on Internal Security. He invoked the Fifth Amendment in reply to all questions regarding his years' long record of service to the Communist conspiracy. . . .

"The subcommittee has received evidence, much of it still of a classified nature, that Henry Abrams is not a lone infiltrator, that there exists in fact a serious Communist infiltration in the Committee for a Sane Nuclear Policy."

The Connecticut Senator pointed out that the Communist purpose in supporting the test-ban agitation is "to exert pressure on the administration to make still further concessions to the Soviet viewpoint." He aded:

"At the Madison Square Garden rally, for example, there was much direct and inferential criticism of American policy, but, according to the press accounts and reports from private sources — persons who were present at the meeting — there was almost no criticism of Khrushchev or of his arrogant, insulting, gutter-level behavior in Paris. On the contrary, the speakers called for an immediate effort to renew the 'summit' conference."

Inside Washington

By Henry Cathcart

CANDIDATE KENNEDY — Senator John F. Kennedy (D), Massachusetts, is bedazzling the political world with his spectacular run for the Presidential nomination of his party. He looks unbeatable among a field of potentials which a few short months ago contributed nothing but confusion to the political picture.

Kennedy's candidacy has had some unusual personal by-products. His wife Jackie, for instance, related that their 2-year-old daughter, Caroline, has learned to talk in recent weeks, and her first words were "plane, goodby and New Hampshire."

Now, Jackie continued, "she can say Wisconsin and West Virginia. I'm only sorry there aren't more state primaries so my child would have the greatest vocabulary of any 2-year-old in the country."

Kennedy's politics has also made a political convert out of his wife. She confessed that she started out in life being a Republican, but added: "You have to be a Republican to realize how nice it is to be a Democrat."

STATE OF BUSINESS — A sudden and pleasantly surprising surge in the natoin's economy has smiles wreathing the faces of administration officials. They had been fearful that a business slump was in the making and that it would greatly jeopardize the chances of the Republicans to win the presidential elections to win the presidential elections next November.

Now it appears that the spate of bad business statistics, such as unemployment, steel production, freight shipments and retail sales, resulted from two factors—the aftermath of the steel strike and a severe winter.

President Eisenhower's economic advisers are telling him that things look good for business for the rest of the year. That is what prompted the President to make announcements at a news conference of record-high employment, a sharp drop in unemployment, and the fact that the national income had achieved a rate in excess of $500 billion a year for the first time in history.

Jim Bishop: Reporter

By Jim Bishop

The call came from Mary von Ahn, who has the perpetually cheerful tone of the doctor's secretary. She said that the annual examination was about due and when would I like to make it. The answer is never, but it is a thing that must be done, so I asked the lady to please set up the usual appointments and that I would spend a day being probed, punched and pictured.

Mary works for two doctors named Sheehan and Kelly. The front office is full of women and children and resembles a fifteen-minute bus stop at Dubuque. Mary beams, even when the little ones want to share their lollipops with her. She had a list of appointments for me and I started off with x-rays.

This meant no breakfast. I got into a tiny booth and removed my nice summer suit and donned a starched garment that looked like an apron made for a fat butcher. I was wearing only a pair of sox when Dr. Andrew Dedick took me into the x-ray room. His assistant, Mr. Joseph Marchese, handed me a glass of malted chalk and I drank on order.

There is nothing pleasant about the annual examination except, if you're lucky, the final report. Dr. Dedick knew the vital statistics about me: Age: 52. Height: 5:7. Weight: 160. Widower inclined to keep late hours. Doesn't drink. Smokes much too much. Seldom exercises, never walks when he can ride. No history of serious illness except suspected cardiac deficiency in 1950.

The doctor did the fluoroscopic examination, pressing the middle valve down and chatting about boating and fishing. Then Joe Marchese put me on the x-ray table, showed me how to turn halfway and draw the knees up, put out the lights, said: "Don't breathe. . . . Breathe," a few times, and it was all over.

From there I went to the ear nose and throat man, Dr. R. B. Robertson, a man with a big smile like a million dollars in pennies. Here too I found harassed mothers with whining children. Patients were beckoned through different doors and, when my turn came, I was taken to a booth with a lot of instruments and the doctor put his miner's headlight on and began an examination.

Little black disks went into the nostrils; a long spoon with a mirror went into the throat. The ears were looked into. A tiny lesion was found on the pharynx. Dr. Robrtson said he was sure it was nothing of conseqeunce, but to please come back in a month.

Negative, negative, negative—I heard the nice word all day. At last, I was back in Dr. Kelly's office. He's an internist and he made the final exhaustive examination. Again the summer suit came off, except that by now it was accordion-pleated. Chest examination, back examination, a few personal effronteries, on the scale, off, an electrocardiogram which showed no changes, and a discussion about incipient arthritis of two vertebrae in the neck which have managed to pinch a nerve between them.

The day had started at 10 a. m. At 4:40 p. m. Dr. Kelly told me that I could go home. It had been a long, tedious time, but I will not knock it because I believe that it should be done once a year after the age of 40, and twice a year from the age of 50 onward. Medical science is a fallible craft, and God still calls patients who have been certified to be in reasonably good health, but, as nearly as these men could guess, I checked out okay.

I drove home so happy and relaxed that I went through a red light dreaming. At the house, I spread the good word and I lectured my friend Chief Dundas on being overweight and to please watch that cough. Chief shook his head sadly. "Now that he's had his annual checkup," he said to the wall, "the rest of us will get nothing but abuse. Spare me the details, Mr. B."

Two days later, all the reports were in, and Mary von Ahn phoned and said that Dr. Kelly wanted me to know that everything was all right and to please use the pulleys and harness to stretch the neck. Also, would I please try to drop another eight pounds before the next visit?

The annual health kick is over. Except for a few minor aches and no sense, this little butterball is intact. I might become real brazen and smoke a cigaret with no filter at all. . . .

Good Sanitation Can Prevent Amebiasis

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Amebiasis is well understood by the medical profession and we now have several good remedies. But we have no reason to crow because the condition is rife in many parts of the country and epidemics crop out in the most unexpected places.

This is explained by the frailties of the flesh because the incidence of the disease is related to sanitation and cleanliness. In some sections of the country, 30 per cent of the people harbor the causative amebas in the intestinal tract. Amebic dysentery is common in areas where plumbing is nonexistent. On the other hand it must function properly. The Chicago epidemic of 25 years ago was traced to a faulty sewage system that connected in some way with the water supply.

Many victims have no idea where they picked up the parasites. Those who have traveled through Cuba and other Caribbean areas, the Orient, South Pacific, and Mediterranean regions have been exposed on many occasions.

Only a small percentage develop dysentery, which is one of the objections to the old term, amebic dysentery. In the past, many cases were missed because there was no dysentery; consequently, the usual stool tests were omitted when the victim complained of fatigue, feverishness, or vague abdominal distress.

Chloroquine and antibiotics such as terramycin, fumagallin, erythromycin, or bacitracin are excellent remedies, provided the drug selected is used until all signs of the disease have vanished. Classic Lesson In Economics

There is a story to the effect that a king, seeking to understand the science of economics, sent for all the economists in his realm. After hearing them out, he understood less of economics than he had before.

Then a page boy stepped forward and told the king that there was still one economist left, an old and wise man. The page persuaded the king to send for the sage. The king agreed only on condition that the ancient economist explain economics in one sentence.

When the old man appeared, the assignment was again explained to him. He agreed to its terms. "The science of economics," he told the king, "is contained in these nine words: There is no such thing as a free lunch."

Economic data can be argued this way and that; statistics can be made to prove all sorts of things; but in the end, one fact remains:

Somebody has to pay.

This fact is inescapable, even when the government is providing the lunch. In that case, it's the taxpayer who has to pay.

Thus, when new spending proposals are put forward as vote bait, taxpayers should always remember the free lunch. Somebody has to pay for it, and that somebody is the taxpayer, even though proponents of the plans would have him believe that he really is getting a free lunch.

What the taxpayer must ask is whether, if he buys this type of "lunch," he is getting the right kind of lunch for the right kind of money. Will he be getting his money's worth?

These Days

Please Khrushchev?

When Nikita Khrushchev postponed the Summit Conference six or eight months until after the American election, he indicated clearly that he was desirous of having a President suitable to himself. Some put this down to a gaucherie on the part of an astute but not too informed a man. Perhaps, we felt charitably, Khrushchev did not understand that our system of election did not change the government, as they say in many European countries, but only the Administration which generally speaking is the Executive Branch of the government. About one-third of the Senate and the whole of the House of Representatives stand for election but many, if not most, are reelected.

When Gromyko repeated the same idea in the United Nations, that is, that Russia would wait until a new President was elected, he indicated a direct, overt interference in the American election by Soviet Russia.

To have a look at this sort of thing, one has to go back to the Administration of John Adams, second President of the United States. In a special message to Congress, President John Adams, referring to conduct of the French government, said:

". . . The speech of the (French) President discloses sentiments more alarming than the refusal of a minister, because more dangerous to our independence and union, and at the same time studiously marked with indignities toward the Government of the United States. It evinces a disposition to separate the people of the United States from the Government, to persuade them that they have different affections, principles, and interests from those of their fellow-citizens whom they themselves have chosen to manage their common concerns, and thus to produce divisions fatal to our peace. Such attempts ought to be repelled with a decision which shall convince France and the world that we are not a degraded people, humiliated under a colonial spirit of fear and sense of inferiority, fitted to be the miserable instruments of foreign influence, and regardless of national honor, character, and interest."

Then President Adams added:

"I should have been happy to have thrown a veil over these transactions if it had been possible to conceal them; but they have passed on the great theater of the world, in the face of all Europe and America, and with such circumstances of publicity and solemnity that they can not be disguised and will not soon be forgotten . . ."

It is interesting to note how closely President Adams responded to a situation which President Eisenhower faces today, about a century and a half later. The United States did not go to war with France because of the indignities which a revolutionary government put upon us. As a matter of fact, John Adams was succeeded by Thomas Jefferson who was more favorably disposed toward the French Revolution, but in his First Inaugural, Jefferson said:

". . . I know, indeed, that some honest men fear that a republican government can not be strong, that this Government is not strong enough; but would the honest patriot, in the full tide of successful experiment, abandon a government which has so far kept us free and firm on the theoretic and visionary fear that this Government, the world's best hope, may by possibility want energy to preserve itself? I trust not. I believe this, on the contrary, the strongest Government on earth . . ."

Then he added:

". . . Kindly separated by nature and a wide ocean from the exterminating havoc of one quarter of the globe; too high-minded to endure the degradations of the others; possessing a chosen country, with room enough for our descendants to the thousandth and thousandth generation; entertaining a due sense of our equal right to the use of our own faculties, to the acquisitions of our own industry, to honor and confidence from our fellow-citizens, resulting not from birth, but from our actions and their sense of them; enlightened by a benign religion, professed, indeed, and practiced in various forms, yet all of them inculcating honesty, truth, temperance, gratitude, and the love of man; acknowledging and adoring an overruling Providence, which by all its dispensations proves that it delights in the happiness of man here and his greater happiness hereafter — with all these blessings, what more is necessary to make us a happy and a prosperous people? . . ."

It is worth while to look into our past to understand our present.

Another Case Of Red Infiltration Exposed

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — Just eight days ago, Senator Thomas J. Dodd, Democrat, of Connecticut made a startling revelation in the Senate of the United States about Communist infiltration in New York City. But his speech attracted relatively little attention. Is this because Communist infiltration in America has become commonplace, or is it because of a recent tendency to pooh-pooh the Communist menace in this country?

When, however, a committee of prominent Americans organizes a meeting in Madison Square Garden to discuss a public issue and it develops that the chief organizer of the meeting is a Communist, one would think that Americans would be outraged and that there would be public denunciation of it.

Here is an extract from Senator Dodd's speech:

"Last Thursday evening, May 19, the Committee for a Sane Nuclear Policy held a rally at Madison Square Garden in New York City. Many eminent persons attended this rally. The speakers included Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, Mr. Alfred Landon, Mr. Walter Reuther, Governor G. Mennen Williams, of Michigan, and Dr. Harold Taylor, former President of Sarah Lawrence College. At this meeting, the speakers urged that another 'summit' meeting be convened for the purpose of attempting to arrive at an agreement banning nuclear tests.

"Because I esteem the sincerity of the original founders of the Committee for a Sane Nuclear Policy and the sincerity of the speakers I have named, it was for me an unpleasant duty to have to notify them that the unpublicized chief organizer of the Madison Square Garden rally was a veteran member of the Communist Party; that there was also evidence of serious Communist infiltration at chapter level throughout the Committee for a Sane Nuclear Policy; that the Communist Party and its front organizations had done their utmost to promote the meeting; that the Communists provided much of the organizing machinery for the meeting because they planned to use it as a pressure instrument in support of Soviet nuclear diplomacy."

When this information was confirmed by the Senate Subcommittee on Internal Security a few days before the Madison Square Garden meeting was scheduled, the Connecticut Senator decided to communicate it to Norman Cousins, chairman of the Committee for a Sane Nuclear Policy, who came to Washington and they had "a long and frank discussion about the problem." Mr. Dodd found that the directors of the committee "had some inkling of the existence of the Communist infiltration," and that one of the officers of the committee, Norman Thomas, "had, as early as last January, expressed serious suspicion about the individual who later became organizer of the Madison Square Garden meeting — but that no action had been taken on Mr. Thomas' warning."

According to Senator Dodd, Mr. Cousins suspended the organizer in question immediately after their conference. The Connecticut Senator, in his speech, said:

"It is my understanding that the national committee of the organization intends to take some further measures against Communist infiltrators. If I have any criticism to make, it is that the directors of the organization have moved so slowly to confront the problem and that the measures they have taken have been inadequate. . .

"To me it is appalling that the Communists should be able to infiltrate and manipulate a movement founded on sincere humanitarian and pacifist motivations, and headed by so many reputable citizens. Perhaps this is a situation in which private citizens must have the assistance of government to cope effectively with a movement that operates by stealth and by secrecy."

Senator Dodd went on to say that "the name of the Communist Party member who served as chief organizer of the Madison Square Garden meeting is Henry H. Abrams," and he told in some detail not only of Abrams' "long and fairly prominent association" with the Committee for a Sane Nuclear Policy but of his activities with Communist-front organizations and his Communist record that began in 1939 and has continued ever since. The Connecticut Senator said:

"I state all these things as facts. On Friday, May 13, Henry Abrams was given the opportunity to deny them in a hearing of the Senate Subcommittee on Internal Security. He invoked the Fifth Amendment in reply to all questions regarding his years' long record of service to the Communist conspiracy. . . .

"The subcommittee has received evidence, much of it still of a classified nature, that Henry Abrams is not a lone infiltrator, that there exists in fact a serious Communist infiltration in the Committee for a Sane Nuclear Policy."

The Connecticut Senator pointed out that the Communist purpose in supporting the test-ban agitation is "to exert pressure on the administration to make still further concessions to the Soviet viewpoint." He aded:

"At the Madison Square Garden rally, for example, there was much direct and inferential criticism of American policy, but, according to the press accounts and reports from private sources — persons who were present at the meeting — there was almost no criticism of Khrushchev or of his arrogant, insulting, gutter-level behavior in Paris. On the contrary, the speakers called for an immediate effort to renew the 'summit' conference."

Inside Washington

By Henry Cathcart

CANDIDATE KENNEDY — Senator John F. Kennedy (D), Massachusetts, is bedazzling the political world with his spectacular run for the Presidential nomination of his party. He looks unbeatable among a field of potentials which a few short months ago contributed nothing but confusion to the political picture.

Kennedy's candidacy has had some unusual personal by-products. His wife Jackie, for instance, related that their 2-year-old daughter, Caroline, has learned to talk in recent weeks, and her first words were "plane, goodby and New Hampshire."

Now, Jackie continued, "she can say Wisconsin and West Virginia. I'm only sorry there aren't more state primaries so my child would have the greatest vocabulary of any 2-year-old in the country."

Kennedy's politics has also made a political convert out of his wife. She confessed that she started out in life being a Republican, but added: "You have to be a Republican to realize how nice it is to be a Democrat."

STATE OF BUSINESS — A sudden and pleasantly surprising surge in the natoin's economy has smiles wreathing the faces of administration officials. They had been fearful that a business slump was in the making and that it would greatly jeopardize the chances of the Republicans to win the presidential elections to win the presidential elections next November.

Now it appears that the spate of bad business statistics, such as unemployment, steel production, freight shipments and retail sales, resulted from two factors—the aftermath of the steel strike and a severe winter.

President Eisenhower's economic advisers are telling him that things look good for business for the rest of the year. That is what prompted the President to make announcements at a news conference of record-high employment, a sharp drop in unemployment, and the fact that the national income had achieved a rate in excess of $500 billion a year for the first time in history.

Nixon's Ex-Manager Chotiner Tries To Make His Political Comeback

By Jack Anderson

(Editor's note — While Drew Pearson is out of Washington briefly his column is written by his associate, Jack Anderson.)

WASHINGTON—Ever since the Senate rackets committee in 1956 began prying into Murray Chotiner's political influence, Vice President Nixon has sought delicately to disengage himself from the man who managed his rise from a small-town lawyer to the Vice Presidency.

But the manicured, pomaded, tastefully tailored Chotiner isn't an easy man to shake. Disregarding entreaties that his candidacy would embarrass Nixon, he determined to crash back into the inner political circles by running for Congress in California's silk-stocking Beverly Hills district.

Chotiner will submit his case to the voters next Tuesday in the Republican primary. His chief rival for the GOP nomination: millionaire Alphonzo Bell Jr., who has been serving coffee and bell-shaped cookies to the electorate.

The unspoken issue, because the candidates have been too polite to bring it into the open, is Chotiner's backstage influence in Washington. For the Senate committee found that racketeers, contractors, tax delinquents, and others in trouble with Uncle Sam had been beating a path across country to the door of Chotiner's Beverly Hills law firm.

Post-Nixon Practice

Asked behind closed doors whether he had handled "comparable cases" before Nixon became Vice President, Chotiner replied candidly: "I would say as a general statement, no. I did represent some criminal cases before 1953. Some of them were income tax cases; some were Selective Service cases. Other than that I would say not comparable."

Chotiner's influence apparently reached inside the rackets committee itself. Before public hearings could be held, the committee mysteriously dropped the investigation. Word leaked out that a counter-investigation had been threatened against Chairman John McClellan's own law firm in Little Rock, Ark., where he then shared offices with his late son, James McClellan, son-in-law Harry McDermott, and C. Hamilton Moses, long the "power" in Arkansas Power and Light.

However, this column has taken up the Chotiner investigation where the rackets committee left off. Here are the findings in a few typical cases:

1. Borman Engineering won an Air Force contract to manufacture machine gun parts for $132,667. When the company later tried to raise the price another $79,563, the Air Force refused to renegotiate. The company hired Chotiner, whose friends in Congress suddenly began bombarding the Pentagon with letters and phone calls. Congressman Glenard Lipscomb of California demanded a review of the case; Congressman Ed Hiestand of California expressed his hope that "something might be done" for Borman.

"At the request of claimant and others," reports a confidential Air Force memo, "the matter was reviewed by the secretary's office and was referred to the Contract Adjustment Board for consideration." Thereupon, Congressman Holt of California telephoned Max Golden, board chairman, to arrange a private appointment for Chotiner. Final outcome: the Air Force agreed to pay Borman $48,803 above the contract price.

2. The Post Office charged Hollywood Models, Inc., with mail fraud for using the mails to peddle a ladies' vacuum cup to be used as a bust developer. The company retained Chotiner who promptly wrote a "Dear Art" letter to Postmaster General Arthur Summerfield, saying he thought the Republicans were going to stop "petty meddling" in small business.

Summerfield Letter

Summerfield fired back a "Dear Murray" letter, agreeing to transfer the case to California and grant a postponement. Such a delay was forbidden by postal regulations except for "substantial cause." Yet with Summerfield's letter as the only supporting document, the hearing examiner granted unprecedented delays while the company continued with its mail promotion.

In the end, the Food and Drug Administration brought proceedings against the company and finally forced it out of the bust-developing business. This satisfied the Post Office.

3. For five years, the Housing and Home Finance Agency kept the Lloyd Construction Company on its "precautionary list" for questionable contracting activities. Then at a cocktail party Chotiner asked the agency's general counsel, Oakley Hunter, to end the listing. He promptly concluded that "justice had been done" and removed Lloyd Construction from the list.

Chotiner insisted to this column that all his efforts for his clients have been strictly "legal."

"I contacted anyone I thought was a proper person to contact," he said.

"Maybe," Chotiner added brightly, "a blast in the Pearson column will help elect me."

Note — This column learned that Vice President Nixon talked to at least two of Chotiner's clients about their troubles. There is no evidence, however, that he ever intervened in their behalf.

Merry-Go-Round

A lot of Republicans have been accused of running on Eisenhower's coattails, but Sen. Lyndon Johnson is the first Democrat . . . NBC's "World Wide Sixty" has been putting across some terrific shows. Started as a public service program in answer to an FCC plea, World Wide Sixty is now sponsored. Ben Grauer, who narrated "Are American Fighting Men Going Soft?" last week, will do the two-part Sacco-Vanzetti story this Friday and next . . . Sen. Everett Dirksen, the shrewd Republican Senate leader, has been bragging to friends that he has Lyndon Johnson, leader of the Democrats, eating out of his hand.

Jim Bishop: Reporter

By Jim Bishop

The call came from Mary von Ahn, who has the perpetually cheerful tone of the doctor's secretary. She said that the annual examination was about due and when would I like to make it. The answer is never, but it is a thing that must be done, so I asked the lady to please set up the usual appointments and that I would spend a day being probed, punched and pictured.

Mary works for two doctors named Sheehan and Kelly. The front office is full of women and children and resembles a fifteen-minute bus stop at Dubuque. Mary beams, even when the little ones want to share their lollipops with her. She had a list of appointments for me and I started off with x-rays.

This meant no breakfast. I got into a tiny booth and removed my nice summer suit and donned a starched garment that looked like an apron made for a fat butcher. I was wearing only a pair of sox when Dr. Andrew Dedick took me into the x-ray room. His assistant, Mr. Joseph Marchese, handed me a glass of malted chalk and I drank on order.

There is nothing pleasant about the annual examination except, if you're lucky, the final report. Dr. Dedick knew the vital statistics about me: Age: 52. Height: 5:7. Weight: 160. Widower inclined to keep late hours. Doesn't drink. Smokes much too much. Seldom exercises, never walks when he can ride. No history of serious illness except suspected cardiac deficiency in 1950.

The doctor did the fluoroscopic examination, pressing the middle valve down and chatting about boating and fishing. Then Joe Marchese put me on the x-ray table, showed me how to turn halfway and draw the knees up, put out the lights, said: "Don't breathe. . . . Breathe," a few times, and it was all over.

From there I went to the ear nose and throat man, Dr. R. B. Robertson, a man with a big smile like a million dollars in pennies. Here too I found harassed mothers with whining children. Patients were beckoned through different doors and, when my turn came, I was taken to a booth with a lot of instruments and the doctor put his miner's headlight on and began an examination.

Little black disks went into the nostrils; a long spoon with a mirror went into the throat. The ears were looked into. A tiny lesion was found on the pharynx. Dr. Robrtson said he was sure it was nothing of conseqeunce, but to please come back in a month.

Negative, negative, negative—I heard the nice word all day. At last, I was back in Dr. Kelly's office. He's an internist and he made the final exhaustive examination. Again the summer suit came off, except that by now it was accordion-pleated. Chest examination, back examination, a few personal effronteries, on the scale, off, an electrocardiogram which showed no changes, and a discussion about incipient arthritis of two vertebrae in the neck which have managed to pinch a nerve between them.

The day had started at 10 a. m. At 4:40 p. m. Dr. Kelly told me that I could go home. It had been a long, tedious time, but I will not knock it because I believe that it should be done once a year after the age of 40, and twice a year from the age of 50 onward. Medical science is a fallible craft, and God still calls patients who have been certified to be in reasonably good health, but, as nearly as these men could guess, I checked out okay.

I drove home so happy and relaxed that I went through a red light dreaming. At the house, I spread the good word and I lectured my friend Chief Dundas on being overweight and to please watch that cough. Chief shook his head sadly. "Now that he's had his annual checkup," he said to the wall, "the rest of us will get nothing but abuse. Spare me the details, Mr. B."

Two days later, all the reports were in, and Mary von Ahn phoned and said that Dr. Kelly wanted me to know that everything was all right and to please use the pulleys and harness to stretch the neck. Also, would I please try to drop another eight pounds before the next visit?

The annual health kick is over. Except for a few minor aches and no sense, this little butterball is intact. I might become real brazen and smoke a cigaret with no filter at all. . . .

Good Sanitation Can Prevent Amebiasis

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Amebiasis is well understood by the medical profession and we now have several good remedies. But we have no reason to crow because the condition is rife in many parts of the country and epidemics crop out in the most unexpected places.

This is explained by the frailties of the flesh because the incidence of the disease is related to sanitation and cleanliness. Declarer executed a form of strip and end play today to land his game contract, but he had to time his sequence of plays very carefully in order to avoid a last minute upset.

East opened with three hearts having six winners reinforced by the hundred honors. South was reluctant to double feeling that the compensation from a penalty would prove inadequate. He therefore overcalled with four spades which proved to be the final bid.

West dutifully opened his partner's suit and the defenders quickly rattled off two heart tricks. East switched to the jack of clubs and declarer played the ace. There was nothing to be gained by taking the finesse immediately, for South has to lose one trick in the suit in any event and, if the king is favorably located, the queen can be led up to subsequently.

Declarer drew trump in two rounds with the ace and king of spades but, before making any play in the club suit, he decided to strip out the hand first on the chance that something favorable might develop. The ace of diamonds was cashed and South over took the queen with the king to lead a third round of the suit. Although his jack was high, declarer ruffed in dummy to complete the elimination of the red suits.

Now a small club was led and when East played the ten South followed with the six. The defense was helpless. If West overtook the ten of clubs, he would establish declarer's queen and, if East were permitted to hold the trick, the forced heart return would give South a ruff and sluff.

Declarer had played the hand vrey well in refusing to take the club finesse early and special note should be made of his technique in ruffing the good diamond to enter dummy. Had he taken a discard instead and then led his three of spades over to the ten, East would have had the opportunity to discard the ten of clubs and in that manner unblock the suit.

Picnic Candidate

Sure to win the popular vote, picnic after picnic, are charcoal broiled Dixie Dogs. Their platform for election is based on four food favorites. The little brown peanut with the solid backing of the South lends palate appeal as peanut butter filling for the "hot dog" wrapped in bacon. Teamed with the people's choice, a toasted frankfurter bun, Dixie Dogs are slated for victory.

Dixie Dogs

6 frankfurters
¼ cup peanut butter
6 bacon slices
6 sliced frankfurter buns

Slit frankfurters, lengthwise. Spread 2 teaspoons of peanut butter in each slit. Wrap a bacon slice, diagonally, around each frankfurter and fasten bacon with toothpicks. Grill in closed wire rack over hot coals. Serve in frankfurter buns.

Yield: 6 Dixie Dogs.

Let Family Get Into Act For Father's Day Dinner

Besides the cuff links, fishing tackle or new shirt you are planning to present to the head man of your home on Father's Day, this special occasion calls for a gala dinner to make his day official.

Why not let the whole family "get into the act?" The youngsters will be pleased with the opportunity of doing something special for Dad, and Dad in return will be happy and flattered to see the whole gang rally around on his day.

Sure, it's easier and quicker to do it yourself—on the other hand you may be pleasantly surprised to find that well-directed, willing hands can truly be helpful.

Choose a simple but festive menu so that your greenhorn cooks will really be able to have a hand in its preparation. Even your kindergartener, thanks to instant tea, can handle the job of making glasses of iced tea that go so well with any menu this time of year. All your young assistant need do is place a rounded teaspoon of tea into each glass, simply add cold tap water, stir, and pop in ice cubes.

Here's an "Everybody's In the Act" menu that has passed numerous family tests (including father) with flying colors.

Tomato Juice Cocktail
Beefsteak broiled to his taste
Baked Potato and Buttered Green Peas
Celery and Olives
Hot Rolls
Honeydew Melon
(if he's on a diet)
or

1. Beat:
½ cup heavy cream
2. Combine and beat until very light and fluffy:
1 cup defrosted strawberries or fresh berries
1 egg white
1 cup sugar (only if you use fresh berries)
½ teaspoon vanilla or 2 teaspoons lemon juice
3. Fold strawberry mixture into cream, pile high into pretty sherbet glasses.
4. Chill thoroughly before serving. Makes 6 average servings.

Opening lead: Deuce of ♥

Declarer executed a form of strip and end play today to land his game contract, but he had to time his sequence of plays very carefully in order to avoid a last minute upset.

East opened with three hearts having six winners reinforced by the hundred honors. South was reluctant to double feeling that the compensation from a penalty would prove inadequate. He therefore overcalled with four spades which proved to be the final bid.

West dutifully opened his partner's suit and the defenders quickly rattled off two heart tricks. East switched to the jack of clubs and declarer played the ace. There was nothing to be gained by taking the finesse immediately, for South has to lose one trick in the suit in any event and, if the king is favorably located, the queen can be led up to subsequently.

Declarer drew trump in two rounds with the ace and king of spades but, before making any play in the club suit, he decided to strip out the hand first on the chance that something favorable might develop. The ace of diamonds was cashed and South over took the queen with the king to lead a third round of the suit. Although his jack was high, declarer ruffed in dummy to complete the elimination of the red suits.

Now a small club was led and when East played the ten South followed with the six. The defense was helpless. If West overtook the ten of clubs, he would establish declarer's queen and, if East were permitted to hold the trick, the forced heart return would give South a ruff and sluff.

Declarer had played the hand vrey well in refusing to take the club finesse early and special note should be made of his technique in ruffing the good diamond to enter dummy. Had he taken a discard instead and then led his three of spades over to the ten, East would have had the opportunity to discard the ten of clubs and in that manner unblock the suit.

Market Scores Sharpest Gain In Over Two Weeks

NEW YORK (UPI) — The stock market scored its sharpest gain in more than two weeks Thursday when a run on steel stocks late in the session spread quickly to other sections of the list.

After the close of trading, the Federal Reserve Board announced it had approved reductions in the discount rate for its Philadelphia and San Francisco district banks from 4 to 3½ per cent. This rate is the fee the Fed charges for loans to member banks.

The trading community, anticipating that action on the rate cut or a possible reduction in margin requirements was imminent, triggered a late buying flurry that caused the tape to run late for a time at the close. However, no action on the margin rate, at 90 per cent since October, 1958, was announced.

The list, mixed at the opening and narrowly irregular all day, began turning up shortly after the third hour. The rally started in the steels and soon spread to such basic industry groups as the chemicals and motors.

Gains in steel issues ran to 4 in Universal Cyclops, 3 or more in Republic, Youngstown, Jones & Laughlin and Lukens, and more than 2 in Wheeling.

Traders apparently were looking ahead to a future pick up in industry operators. Trade sources have pointed out that with steel inventories at their lowest possiblee level, an upturn when it occurs is likely to result in a rapid rise in the steel operating rate.

Market Scores Sharpest Gain In Over Two Weeks

NEW YORK (UPI) — The stock market scored its sharpest gain in more than two weeks Thursday when a run on steel stocks late in the session spread quickly to other sections of the list.

After the close of trading, the Federal Reserve Board announced it had approved reductions in the discount rate for its Philadelphia and San Francisco district banks from 4 to 3½ per cent. This rate is the fee the Fed charges for loans to member banks.

The trading community, anticipating that action on the rate cut or a possible reduction in margin requirements was imminent, triggered a late buying flurry that caused the tape to run late for a time at the close. However, no action on the margin rate, at 90 per cent since October, 1958, was announced.

The list, mixed at the opening and narrowly irregular all day, began turning up shortly after the third hour. The rally started in the steels and soon spread to such basic industry groups as the chemicals and motors.

Gains in steel issues ran to 4 in Universal Cyclops, 3 or more in Republic, Youngstown, Jones & Laughlin and Lukens, and more than 2 in Wheeling.

Traders apparently were looking ahead to a future pick up in industry operators. Trade sources have pointed out that with steel inventories at their lowest possible level, an upturn when it occurs is likely to result in a rapid rise in the steel operating rate.

Baked Egg Casserole

Chopped hard cooked eggs, diced celery, ground ham and chopped pecans with a suggestion of minced onion and snipped parsley in salt and pepper seasoned mayonnaise, are the ingredients. Combine, toss together lightly and portion into buttered ramekins or large baking dish. Generously sprinkle with crushed potato chips and grated cheddar cheese (very sharp - flavored) bake in moderate oven about 25-30 minutes, until the cheese is bubbly and golden brown. An excellent main dish idea for the Lenten season when prepared without the ham.

Pineapple Rice

1 cup cooked rice
¼ cup sugar
6 rings canned pineapple
2 egg whites
Dash of salt
4 tablespoons sugar

Stir sugar into rice. Shape into six mounds. Place in center of each pineapple ring. Beat egg whites and salt until stiff. Gradually add granulated sugar. Continue to beat until smooth. Pile meringue on top of each rice-pineapple ring. Garnish with finely chopped pistachio nuts. Makes 6 servings.

The first dairy cattle brought to the United States arrived in the Plymouth colony in 1624.

Diploma Dessert For 'Graduated' Tastes

If graduation is the next big event coming up in your household, you must be making plans for some lavish refreshments after the ceremonies.

To make a real hit with the group, concentrate on the dessert. Even simple desserts like ice cream and cookies are the kind that have greatest teen appeal.

Sound too ordinary? They need not, for ice cream and cookies lend themselves to all manner of fancy treatment. For instance, nothing could be more in keeping with a graduation theme for young people than these banana splits and diploma cookies.

The splits are as rich and gooey as the fountain specialties kids adore. But you'll find them easy to prepare at home with a new ice cream called Bananza Split. Developed by one of the leading ice cream companies, it provides the three favorite flavors of fountain splits — chocolate, banana pecan and strawberry — in one convenient package.

To make your homemade splits, fashion balls of the ice cream with a No. 30 ice cream dipper. Spoon a few tablespoons of a prepared pineapple sauce topping in each dessert glass. Arrange three ice cream balls in each glass and place two thin slices of fresh banana along sides of the glass. Trim with a blob of whipped cream and perch a fresh strawberry on top.

Symbolic of the occasion and appropriate acompaniment for the splits are these diploma cookies. They are rich, buttery wafers formed into scrolls and tied with chocolate frosting ribbon bows.

Diploma Cookies
(Three Dozen)

6 egg whites
1⅔ cups sugar
¼ teaspoon salt
1 cup melted butter, cooled
1 cup sifted all-purpose flour
¾ cup finely chopped, blanched almonds

Combine egg whites, sugar and salt; beat until sugar is dissolved and mixture is thick but not stiff. Add butter gradually. Fold in flour and almonds, mixing well. Drop by tablespoonsful onto well greased and lightly floured cookie sheets, putting only 4 on sheet at a time. Spread each out into a 3 by 4 inch rectagle. Bake at 350 degrees for 8 to 10 minutes. Let cool just a few seconds before carefully removing from cookie sheets. Quickly roll over handle of a wooden spoon. With a chocolate decorating frosting, form a ribbon and bow on each cookie.

When selecting fresh pork, look for meat that is light, grayish-pink in color. It should be fine textured, smooth and velvety, and intermingled with flecks of fat. The outside fat on prk cuts should be white and firm.

You'll need much less sugar to give iced tea or coffee the desired sweetness if you dissolve the sugar in hot water beforehand.

Baked Egg Casserole

Chopped hard cooked eggs, diced celery, ground ham and chopped pecans with a suggestion of minced onion and snipped parsley in salt and pepper seasoned mayonnaise, are the ingredients. Combine, toss together lightly and portion into buttered ramekins or large baking dish. Generously sprinkle with crushed potato chips and grated cheddar cheese (very sharp - flavored) bake in moderate oven about 25-30 minutes, until the cheese is bubbly and golden brown. An excellent main dish idea for the Lenten season when prepared without the ham.

Pineapple Rice

1 cup cooked rice
¼ cup sugar
6 rings canned pineapple
2 egg whites
Dash of salt
4 tablespoons sugar

Stir sugar into rice. Shape into six mounds. Place in center of each pineapple ring. Beat egg whites and salt until stiff. Gradually add granulated sugar. Continue to beat until smooth. Pile meringue on top of each rice-pineapple ring. Garnish with finely chopped pistachio nuts. Makes 6 servings.

The first dairy cattle brought to the United States arrived in the Plymouth colony in 1624.

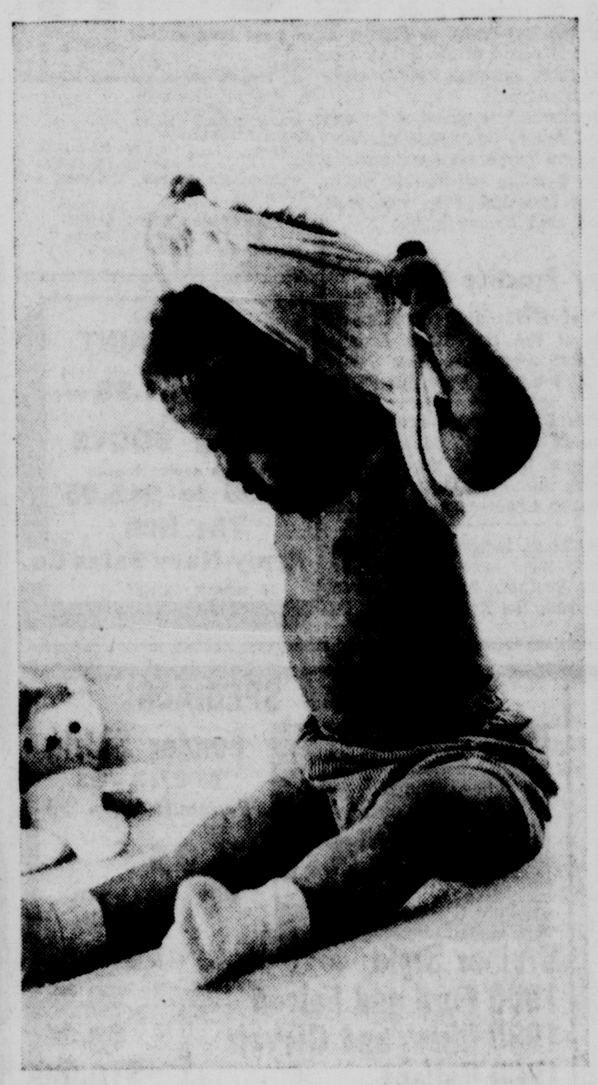
Ground-in grime... or simply soiled...



you need CLOROX to get out dirt that suds leave in!

Naturally you add Clorox when things get grimy. But now we know there's dirt that suds can't budge even in lightly soiled wash loads. Tiny soil particles and normal body oils lock themselves in so tightly they're actually suds-proof. Getting suds-proof dirt out—and the gray it causes—calls for Clorox.

Clorox takes over where suds leave off. Suds loosen ordinary dirt. But suds-proof dirt demands the special dissolving action of Clorox. Every time you add Clorox, you add cleaning power that suds alone cannot ma.

Clorox actually dissolves suds-proof dirt that makes clothes gray!

Woodling's Homer Wins Game In 8th

Estrada Bags 5th, Yields One Hit In Last Two Innings

BALTIMORE (UPI) — Gene Woodling's eighth - inning homer decided a battle of circuit clouts Thursday night and gave the league-leading Baltimore Orioles their third straight victory over the Yankees, 6-5, before the season's largest crowd here, 42,755.

The clout, a solo shot that soared some 420 feet on a line, climaxed a game in which five homers were hit altogether to account for all but two of the 11 runs scored by both clubs. It was his fourth of the year.

Chuck Estrada, 22 - year - old rookie, was the winner, his fifth in six decisions, with a one-hit, two-inning relief job.

Art Ditmar was tagged with the loss to lower his record to 2-3.

Bill Skowron sent the Yanks in front in the second inning with his sixth homer off starter Hoyt Wilhelm. His double behind Roger Maris' single gave the Yanks a 2-0 lead in the fourth.

In the fifth, Brooks Robinson slammed his third round tripper of the year following a single by Jackie Brandt to tie the score. After Maris' 12th homer in the sixth sent the Yanks ahead, 4-2, Jim Gentile blasted his fifth of the year in the Orioles' half with two mates aboard to put the Birds in front.

The Yankees tied it in the eighth on a single by Hector Lopez, Maris' double, his third hit, and Skowron's sacrifice fly on which second baseman Marv Breeding made a running catch in short right.

Estrada, who had taken over in the eighth when Lopez singled, set down the Yankees in the ninth, walking pinch hitter Bob Cerv with two out. But he sealed the Birds' 26th victory in their last 36 games by getting Gil McDougald on an infield roller.

Meyer Is Fined For "Horseplay"

PHILADELPHIA (UPI)— Pitcher Jack Meyer of the Philadelphia Phillies has been fined about $1,000 for his "horseplay" in Pittsburgh which caused an injury to his back and placed him on the disabled list.

Manager Gene Mauch said Thursday the fine amounted to 15 day's pay. He had said earlier that the right-hander, the Phils' leading pitcher with three victories, would be punished with more than a "severe reprimand."

Reached at his hospital room here, Meyer said he had no comment on the fine.

"Talk to Mauch, General Manager John Quinn and President Bob Carpenter," he said.

The incident which led to the fine occurred in Meyer's hotel room in Pittsburgh last Saturday night while the pitcher was "horsing around," according to Mauch. Meyer's injury was diagnosed as a slipped disc at Jefferson Hospital, where he is a patient.

The Ritter Athletic Club took sole possession of first place in the Rocking Chair Softball League yesterday by scoring its fourth consecutive victory at the expense of the Celanese A.A., 5-4, at Stitcher Field while the Moose was trimming the V.F.W. at East Side Field to the tune of 4-2.

At Post Field, the B.P.O. Elks notched their first victory in six outings this season but were extended ten innings before they subdued the Knights of Columbus by the score of 4-3.

Kauffman Wins 3rd.

Glenn Kauffman recorded his third triumph of the season as Ritter's replaced the V.F.W. as league leaders.

Bob Koelker collected two of the R.A.C.'s six hits and George Stevenson belted a triple. Ozzie Nelson garnered two hits and Don Harden rapped a three-bagger for the Silkmen.

Webb Hull tossed a 4-hitter to give Moose the decision over the Vets as the L.O.O.M. took over the runner-up spot in the league with a 5-2 record.

Five straight hits by Klavuhn, Lewis, Hull, "Shorty" Long and Keyser gave the Moose two runs and the ball game in the 5th frame. Long's timely blow drove in the tying and winning tallies.

Klavuhn and Hull had two hits each and Lloyd Lease smacked a triple for the Moose. Jack Eckard homered and Phil Reuschel doubled to account for two of the Vets' four blows.

Bopp's Hit Decides

Jack Bopp's single to left with the hassocks loaded in the 10th inning scored the run that gave the Elks a win over the K. of C. Manager Lou Baker sent the game into extra innings when he pinch-hit for Paul Roeder in the 7th and scored Norm Sell with the run that knotted the count at 3-3.

Bill Underdonk collected three hits for the Elks. Jimmy Collins and Tommy Mullaney, of the Caseys, and Jack Bopp of the Elks obtained two safeties each. Woodling's Homer Wins Game In 8th

Estrada Bags 5th, Yields One Hit In Last Two Innings

BALTIMORE (UPI) — Gene Woodling's eighth - inning homer decided a battle of circuit clouts Thursday night and gave the league-leading Baltimore Orioles their third straight victory over the Yankees, 6-5, before the season's largest crowd here, 42,755.

The clout, a solo shot that soared some 420 feet on a line, climaxed a game in which five homers were hit altogether to account for all but two of the 11 runs scored by both clubs. It was his fourth of the year.

Chuck Estrada, 22 - year - old rookie, was the winner, his fifth in six decisions, with a one-hit, two-inning relief job.

Art Ditmar was tagged with the loss to lower his record to 2-3.

Bill Skowron sent the Yanks in front in the second inning with his sixth homer off starter Hoyt Wilhelm. His double behind Roger Maris' single gave the Yanks a 2-0 lead in the fourth.

In the fifth, Brooks Robinson slammed his third round tripper of the year following a single by Jackie Brandt to tie the score. After Maris' 12th homer in the sixth sent the Yanks ahead, 4-2, Jim Gentile blasted his fifth of the year in the Orioles' half with two mates aboard to put the Birds in front.

The Yankees tied it in the eighth on a single by Hector Lopez, Maris' double, his third hit, and Skowron's sacrifice fly on which second baseman Marv Breeding made a running catch in short right.

Estrada, who had taken over in the eighth when Lopez singled, set down the Yankees in the ninth, walking pinch hitter Bob Cerv with two out. But he sealed the Birds' 26th victory in their last 36 games by getting Gil McDougald on an infield roller.

Meyer Is Fined For "Horseplay"

PHILADELPHIA (UPI)— Pitcher Jack Meyer of the Philadelphia Phillies has been fined about $1,000 for his "horseplay" in Pittsburgh which caused an injury to his back and placed him on the disabled list.

Manager Gene Mauch said Thursday the fine amounted to 15 day's pay. He had said earlier that the right-hander, the Phils' leading pitcher with three victories, would be punished with more than a "severe reprimand."

Reached at his hospital room here, Meyer said he had no comment on the fine.

"Talk to Mauch, General Manager John Quinn and President Bob Carpenter," he said.

The incident which led to the fine occurred in Meyer's hotel room in Pittsburgh last Saturday night while the pitcher was "horsing around," according to Mauch. Meyer's injury was diagnosed as a slipped disc at Jefferson Hospital, where he is a patient.

George Lauder with a homer, double and single and Ellie Fazenbaker with a circuit belt and single sparked the Barton hitters. Joe Taylor and Manager Junie Perry had two hits each for the losers.

Wayne "Lefty" Johnson hurled Lonaconing into second place, 2½ games off the pace, by turning back Franklin at Barton by the score of 4-0. Jerry Lancaster relieved Johnson in the final frame. Johnson whiffed ten batsmen.

Bedford Road Edges Rotary

Optimists Score Win In 8th, 12-11

Bedford Road Optimists moved into the .500 circle in the Hot Stove Baseball League yesterday when they scored their second win in four starts at the expense of the Rotary Club in a game staged at Mason Road Field.

The score was 12-11 and the game was decided in the 8th inning when an error with the bases loaded enabled the Optimists to register the tie-breaking run.

Lee Miller, relief pitcher, who came on in the sixth frame, received credit for the win, his second against a single loss. John Roy, the last of three Rotary hurlers, was tagged with the loss.

A double play executed by Lee Miller, Tom Hamilton and Shircliffe with the bases loaded in the 6th after four runs had crossed the platter was the fielding highlight.

Tom Hamilton had a perfect day at the plate in four trips. Jim Willis and Eddie Lease had three hits each and Bobby Robertson rapped a triple for Manager Ced Miller's team. Roy pounded a homer and two singles and Terry Lease also hit a round-tripper for the Rotary Club.

The score:

Rotary Club	005 024 00—11 11 2
Bedford Road	260 210 01—12 14 2
Isner, Skidmore (2), Roy (5) and Roy, D. Merrill (5). Jim Wilhs, Lee Miller (6) and Hamilton.
Winner—Miller. Loser—Roy.
HR—Roy, T. Lease (Rotary Club).

Marx, Owens Win

Harold Marx defeated Bob Petersen, 2 and 1, in the sixth flight, and Paul Owens won over Bert Graham, 3 and 2, in the 7th flight, yesterday, in Spring Handicap Golf Tournament matches at the Cumberland Country Club.

Schell Met Death By Misadventure, Coroner's Verdict

WINSLOW, England (UPI) — A verdict of "death by misadventure" was announced Thursday by the coroner at the inquest on the death of American auto racing driver Harry Schell.

Schell was killed when his auto crashed on the track at Silverstone during a practice run for the International Trophy Race, May 13.

The coroner said: "I am satisfied that he met his death as a result of one of those perils that are voluntarily accepted in this calling of a motor racing driver."

Griffith Is 8-5 Choice In Fight

NEW YORK (UPI) — Welterweights Emile Griffith of New York and Jorge Fernandez of Argentina will fight Friday night in a nationally televised 10-rounder at St. Nicholas Arena for a July match with the champion.

Should either win impressively, he will be signed for a non-title fight with champion Benny Kid Paret at Madison Square Garden, July 12. If neither makes a good showing, Paret's Garden opponent will be Sugar Hart or Denny Moyer.

Griffith, a combination boxer-puncher and pride of New York's millinery industry, is favored at 8-5 over slugger Fernandez. However, 24-year-old Fernandez has had nearly four times young Griffith's professional experience.

To Defend Title

NEW YORK (UPI)—Dick Tiger of Nigeria will defend his British Empire middleweight title at Edmonton, Canada, against Wilfie Greaves of Canada on June 22, it was announced Thursday.

"Tiger just came back from a visit to Nigeria and I was delighted to find he weighed only 168 pounds," said Jersey Jones, Tiger's U. S. representative.

Folley Is Fined $100 For Reckless Driving

PHOENIX, Ariz. (UPI)—Heavyweight boxing contender Zora Folley was fined $100 Wednesday on his plea of guilty to reckless driving.

Folley originally was charged with drunk and reckless driving after a minor accident last Dec. 26. However, city attorney Stuart Shoob recommended that the drunk driving charge be dropped because of insufficient evidence.

Folley then pleaded guilty to the reckless driving charge.

U.S. Women's Champ Beats Irish Player

Ohio-Born Girl Fourth American To Take Crown

By HENRY THORNBERRY

HARLECH, Wales (UPI)—Barbara McIntire, 25-year-old U.S. women's champion from Lake Park, Fla., became the queen of golf Thursday when she fought off a blazing rally and won the British amateur championship with a 4 and 2 victory over Ireland's Philomena Garvey.

When she tapped in a one-foot putt to win the match on the 34th green, the dark-haired, dimpled Toledo-born girl joined the late Mildred (Babe) Didriksen Zaharias and Louise Suggs as the only American girls ever to hold the U.S. and British titles simultaneously. Only one British girl, Pamela Boarton in 1936, ever has done it.

Wiffi Won In 1956

Mrs. Zaharias (1947), Miss Suggs (1948) and Margaret (Wiffi) Smith (1956) are the only other Americans ever to win the British crown.

Brilliant golf on the outgoing nine of each round made the difference for the American champion and she needed all her advantage there in the face of a spectacular closing rally by Miss Garvey, 38-year-old Dublin department store buyer who won the title in 1957 and was runner-up in 1946 and 1953.

Eight down with nine to play, Miss Garvey unleashed the greatest stand of her long career as an international star, winning four straight holes and five of six played after they moved into the final nine. Miss Garvey had four birdies in that stretch, one on a 75 foot putt at the 30th hole, and had one-putt greens on all six holes.

Goes Down At 34th

And the Irish star went down fighting at the 34th where she putted boldly from 20 feet trying to win the hole and watched unhappily as the ball skittered past by five feet. She missed the five-footer coming back and Barbara, who had run up her 20-footer to 12 inches, tapped it in for the victory.

"I was really shaken up by Philomena's golf on that back nine," Miss McIntire conceded. "I've never had a back nine like that flung at me in my life."

It would have been a complete rout but for that too late comeback. Miss McIntire won four of the first six holes of the match, led 4 up at the end of nine, six up at the end of 18 and eight up after 27.

Oakland Obtains Powell In Trade

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The Los Angeles Chargers announced Thursday they have traded Charlie Powell, former defensive end of the San Francisco '49ers, to the Oakland Raiders for Don Norton, star end at Iowa last year.

Coach Sid Gillman of the Los Angeles squad in the American Football League expressed delight at landing Norton, who ranked ninth last year in pass receiving, catching 30 passes for 428 yards and four touchdowns.

Russo's Condition Is Reported Fair

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (UPI) — Eddie Russo, slowly recovering from injuries suffered in Monday's 500-mile auto race, was reported in fair condition at Methodist Hospital Thursday.

Russo was the only driver injured seriously in the Memorial Day classic.

Russo, 34, Kansas City, Mo., underwent surgery Tuesday for a badly lacerated scalp and a severe facial cut. He also suffered a brain concussion when his car smashed into the retaining wall on the southeast turn after a tire wore through.

He was on his 85th lap at the time of the accident and was awarded 26th position at a speed of 134.664 miles per hour.

Tourney Postponed

MOUNT CLEMENS, Mich. (AP)—The first round of the $7,500 Women's Wolverine Open was washed out Thursday in a three-hour downpour that struck Hillcrest Country Club at mid-morning.

Sugar Robinson Draws Suspension

NEW YORK (AP)—The New York State Athletic Commission Thursday suspended the boxing license of Sugar Ray Robinson until he can make peace with the Maryland commission.

The former middleweight champion was suspended by the Maryland body May 19 for failure to show up for a scheduled fight in Baltimore.

Sugar Ray was slated to meet Pedro Gonzales May 14 but the bout was postponed until May 16. Robinson didn't show up and failed to notify the boximg promoters.

Gen. Melvin Krulewitch, chairman of the New York commission, announced Thursday that Robinson is suspended until his contract in Maryland is fulfilled or until his suspension in that state is lifted.

Tribe Recalls Locke And Acquires Foiles

CLEVELAND, Ohio (UPI)—The Cleveland Indians Thursday sold knuckle ball pitcher Bob Tiefenauer to Rochester of the International League and recalled another hurler, Larry Locke, from Indianapolis of the American Association.

Earlier, the Indians acquired catcher Hank Foiles from the Pittsburgh Pirates in exchange for outfielder John Powers.

Foiles was traded to the Pirates from Kansas City earlier this week and immediately assigned to Columbus of the International League. Powers was assigned to Columbus in place of Foiles.

The Indians had purchased Powers from Baltimore last month, using him primarily as a pinchhitter.

Schell Met Death By Misadventure, Coroner's Verdict

WINSLOW, England (UPI) — A verdict of "death by misadventure" was announced Thursday by the coroner at the inquest on the death of American auto racing driver Harry Schell.

Schell was killed when his auto crashed on the track at Silverstone during a practice run for the International Trophy Race, May 13.

The coroner said: "I am satisfied that he met his death as a result of one of those perils that are voluntarily accepted in this calling of a motor racing driver."

Griffith Is 8-5 Choice In Fight

NEW YORK (UPI) — Welterweights Emile Griffith of New York and Jorge Fernandez of Argentina will fight Friday night in a nationally televised 10-rounder at St. Nicholas Arena for a July match with the champion.

Should either win impressively, he will be signed for a non-title fight with champion Benny Kid Paret at Madison Square Garden, July 12. If neither makes a good showing, Paret's Garden opponent will be Sugar Hart or Denny Moyer.

Griffith, a combination boxer-puncher and pride of New York's millinery industry, is favored at 8-5 over slugger Fernandez. However, 24-year-old Fernandez has had nearly four times young Griffith's professional experience.

To Defend Title

NEW YORK (UPI)—Dick Tiger of Nigeria will defend his British Empire middleweight title at Edmonton, Canada, against Wilfie Greaves of Canada on June 22, it was announced Thursday.

"Tiger just came back from a visit to Nigeria and I was delighted to find he weighed only 168 pounds," said Jersey Jones, Tiger's U. S. representative.

Folley Is Fined $100 For Reckless Driving

PHOENIX, Ariz. (UPI)—Heavyweight boxing contender Zora Folley was fined $100 Wednesday on his plea of guilty to reckless driving.

Folley originally was charged with drunk and reckless driving after a minor accident last Dec. 26. However, city attorney Stuart Shoob recommended that the drunk driving charge be dropped because of insufficient evidence.

Folley then pleaded guilty to the reckless driving charge.

U.S. Women's Champ Beats Irish Player

Ohio-Born Girl Fourth American To Take Crown

By HENRY THORNBERRY

HARLECH, Wales (UPI)—Barbara McIntire, 25-year-old U.S. women's champion from Lake Park, Fla., became the queen of golf Thursday when she fought off a blazing rally and won the British amateur championship with a 4 and 2 victory over Ireland's Philomena Garvey.

When she tapped in a one-foot putt to win the match on the 34th green, the dark-haired, dimpled Toledo-born girl joined the late Mildred (Babe) Didriksen Zaharias and Louise Suggs as the only American girls ever to hold the U.S. and British titles simultaneously. Only one British girl, Pamela Boarton in 1936, ever has done it.

Wiffi Won In 1956

Mrs. Zaharias (1947), Miss Suggs (1948) and Margaret (Wiffi) Smith (1956) are the only other Americans ever to win the British crown.

Brilliant golf on the outgoing nine of each round made the difference for the American champion and she needed all her advantage there in the face of a spectacular closing rally by Miss Garvey, 38-year-old Dublin department store buyer who won the title in 1957 and was runner-up in 1946 and 1953.

Eight down with nine to play, Miss Garvey unleashed the greatest stand of her long career as an international star, winning four straight holes and five of six played after they moved into the final nine. Miss Garvey had four birdies in that stretch, one on a 75 foot putt at the 30th hole, and had one-putt greens on all six holes.

Goes Down At 34th

And the Irish star went down fighting at the 34th where she putted boldly from 20 feet trying to win the hole and watched unhappily as the ball skittered past by five feet. She missed the five-footer coming back and Barbara, who had run up her 20-footer to 12 inches, tapped it in for the victory.

"I was really shaken up by Philomena's golf on that back nine," Miss McIntire conceded. "I've never had a back nine like that flung at me in my life."

It would have been a complete rout but for that too late comeback. Miss McIntire won four of the first six holes of the match, led 4 up at the end of nine, six up at the end of 18 and eight up after 27.

Oakland Obtains Powell In Trade

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The Los Angeles Chargers announced Thursday they have traded Charlie Powell, former defensive end of the San Francisco '49ers, to the Oakland Raiders for Don Norton, star end at Iowa last year.

Coach Sid Gillman of the Los Angeles squad in the American Football League expressed delight at landing Norton, who ranked ninth last year in pass receiving, catching 30 passes for 428 yards and four touchdowns.

Russo's Condition Is Reported Fair

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (UPI) — Eddie Russo, slowly recovering from injuries suffered in Monday's 500-mile auto race, was reported in fair condition at Methodist Hospital Thursday.

Russo was the only driver injured seriously in the Memorial Day classic.

Russo, 34, Kansas City, Mo., underwent surgery Tuesday for a badly lacerated scalp and a severe facial cut. He also suffered a brain concussion when his car smashed into the retaining wall on the southeast turn after a tire wore through.

He was on his 85th lap at the time of the accident and was awarded 26th position at a speed of 134.664 miles per hour.

Tourney Postponed

MOUNT CLEMENS, Mich. (AP)—The first round of the $7,500 Women's Wolverine Open was washed out Thursday in a three-hour downpour that struck Hillcrest Country Club at mid-morning.

Sugar Robinson Draws Suspension

NEW YORK (AP)—The New York State Athletic Commission Thursday suspended the boxing license of Sugar Ray Robinson until he can make peace with the Maryland commission.

The former middleweight champion was suspended by the Maryland body May 19 for failure to show up for a scheduled fight in Baltimore.

Sugar Ray was slated to meet Pedro Gonzales May 14 but the bout was postponed until May 16. Robinson didn't show up and failed to notify the boximg promoters.

Gen. Melvin Krulewitch, chairman of the New York commission, announced Thursday that Robinson is suspended until his contract in Maryland is fulfilled or until his suspension in that state is lifted.

Tribe Recalls Locke And Acquires Foiles

CLEVELAND, Ohio (UPI)—The Cleveland Indians Thursday sold knuckle ball pitcher Bob Tiefenauer to Rochester of the International League and recalled another hurler, Larry Locke, from Indianapolis of the American Association.

Earlier, the Indians acquired catcher Hank Foiles from the Pittsburgh Pirates in exchange for outfielder John Powers.

Foiles was traded to the Pirates from Kansas City earlier this week and immediately assigned to Columbus of the International League. Powers was assigned to Columbus in place of Foiles.

The Indians had purchased Powers from Baltimore last month, using him primarily as a pinchhitter.

THE 1960 Cadillac

Two very practical advantages of 1960 Cadillac ownership are minimum maintenance costs and exceptional resale worth. Both have been continuous Cadillac virtues for fifty-eight years, as revealed by the fact that almost half of all the cars ever built by Cadillac are operating today—and thirty thousand of these have been on the road for twenty years or more. That's two of many reasons which make Cadillac the wisest investment in the world's finest motor car today.

DON'T just envy a home-owner, be one. Reading the want ads daily is the first good step forward in that direction. You'll find bargains daily under real estate for sale and in the realtors ad Monday, Wednesday and Friday evenings and Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday morning.

YOU MIGHT not see an ad for a current model automobile or a slightly used television set in a newspaper a couple of centuries old, but one thing sure you'll find want ads. This proves that want ads have always brought results and are definitely here to stay.

DON'T just envy a home-owner, be one. Reading the want ads daily is the first good step forward in that direction. You'll find bargains daily under real estate for sale and in the realtors ad Monday, Wednesday and Friday evenings and Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday morning.

YOU MIGHT not see an ad for a current model automobile or a slightly used television set in a newspaper a couple of centuries old, but one thing sure you'll find want ads. This proves that want ads have always brought results and are definitely here to stay.

Senators Beat Red Sox Twice

Washington Posts 8-3 And 8-7 Wins

BOSTON (AP) — Faye Throneberry, a former Boston outfielder, tripled home Washington's winning run for an 8-7 triumph and double-header sweep over the Red Sox Thursday, lifting the Senators out of eighth place.

Washington took the opener of this battle of the American League basement 8-3 with the aid of another Red Sox graduate — relief pitcher Truman Clevenger.

Throneberry's triple to the right field corner in the 10th inning brought in Jose Valdivielso who had singled. The blow settled the marathon contest in which 39 players were used.

The two games consumed 6¾ hours.

The long ball was Washington's winning weapon.

Billy Gardner, whose solo homer touched off a decisive four-run first inning in the opener, tagged the first grand slam of his major league career in the nightcap. They were his only homers of the season.

Harmon Killebrew hit his third, a two-run blast, in the fifth and his sacrifice fly in the ninth forced the contest into extra play.

Jim Lemon (his 11th) and Bob Allison also tagged solo homers in the first game.

Pedro Ramos, sixth Senators' pitcher in the nightcap, was the winner.

St. Louis Cards Post 4-3 Win Over San Francisco

Boyer, Cunningham Hit Homers; Larry Jackson Is Victor

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Home runs by Ken Boyer and Joe Cunningham powered the St. Louis Cardinals to a 4-3 victory over the San Francisco Giants Thursday.

In a seesaw battle the Cardinals came from behind twice to win a free - hitting but close - scoring game. During the battle, played in 90-degree heat, three home runs, two triples and three doubles were hit.

Jackson Is Victor

Cunningham hit his circuit clout, the first this year, to break a 3-3 deadlock in the seventh inning and assure the victory for Larry Jackson — his sixth against five defeats. Billy O'Dell, now 2-5, was the loser.

The Giants touched Jackson for 11 hits. He went eight innings but after he walked pinch hitter Jim Marshall in the ninth he was relieved by Lindy McDaniel. McDaniel gave up a sacriifce to Don Blasingame and then got the next two batters on short popups to the outfield.

The Giants gained a 1-0 lead in the first inning on four hits. Blasingame led off with a single but was picked off first base. With one down Willie Mays, Willie McCovey and Orlando Cepeda hit consecutive singles to send Mays across.

McCovey Belts 10th

The Giants made it 2-0 in the field when McCovey hit his 10th home run of the year. But the Cards evened it up with two unearned runs in the fourth inning. With two down Curt Flood drew a walk, Hal Smith singled and Jackson was safe on Eddie Bressoud's error. Rookie Julien Javier then singled Flood and Smith home.

The Cards went ahead on Boyer's 14th home run of the year. But the Giants tied up again in the sixth when Willie Kirkland led off with a double and scored on a fielding and a throwing erro by Daryl Spencer on Bressoud's grounder.

That set the stage for Cunningham's game-winning smash.

Senators Beat Red Sox Twice

Washington Posts 8-3 And 8-7 Wins

BOSTON (AP) — Faye Throneberry, a former Boston outfielder, tripled home Washington's winning run for an 8-7 triumph and double-header sweep over the Red Sox Thursday, lifting the Senators out of eighth place.

Washington took the opener of this battle of the American League basement 8-3 with the aid of another Red Sox graduate — relief pitcher Truman Clevenger.

Throneberry's triple to the right field corner in the 10th inning brought in Jose Valdivielso who had singled. The blow settled the marathon contest in which 39 players were used.

The two games consumed 6¾ hours.

The long ball was Washington's winning weapon.

Billy Gardner, whose solo homer touched off a decisive four-run first inning in the opener, tagged the first grand slam of his major league career in the nightcap. They were his only homers of the season.

Harmon Killebrew hit his third, a two-run blast, in the fifth and his sacrifice fly in the ninth forced the contest into extra play.

Jim Lemon (his 11th) and Bob Allison also tagged solo homers in the first game.

Pedro Ramos, sixth Senators' pitcher in the nightcap, was the winner.

St. Louis Cards Post 4-3 Win Over San Francisco

Boyer, Cunningham Hit Homers; Larry Jackson Is Victor

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Home runs by Ken Boyer and Joe Cunningham powered the St. Louis Cardinals to a 4-3 victory over the San Francisco Giants Thursday.

In a seesaw battle the Cardinals came from behind twice to win a free - hitting but close - scoring game. During the battle, played in 90-degree heat, three home runs, two triples and three doubles were hit.

Jackson Is Victor

Cunningham hit his circuit clout, the first this year, to break a 3-3 deadlock in the seventh inning and assure the victory for Larry Jackson — his sixth against five defeats. Billy O'Dell, now 2-5, was the loser.

The Giants touched Jackson for 11 hits. He went eight innings but after he walked pinch hitter Jim Marshall in the ninth he was relieved by Lindy McDaniel. McDaniel gave up a sacriifce to Don Blasingame and then got the next two batters on short popups to the outfield.

The Giants gained a 1-0 lead in the first inning on four hits. Blasingame led off with a single but was picked off first base. With one down Willie Mays, Willie McCovey and Orlando Cepeda hit consecutive singles to send Mays across.

McCovey Belts 10th

The Giants made it 2-0 in the field when McCovey hit his 10th home run of the year. But the Cards evened it up with two unearned runs in the fourth inning. With two down Curt Flood drew a walk, Hal Smith singled and Jackson was safe on Eddie Bressoud's error. Rookie Julien Javier then singled Flood and Smith home.

The Cards went ahead on Boyer's 14th home run of the year. But the Giants tied up again in the sixth when Willie Kirkland led off with a double and scored on a fielding and a throwing erro by Daryl Spencer on Bressoud's grounder.

That set the stage for Cunningham's game-winning smash.

Boat Safety Regulations Are Approved

Special Rules Set For Deep Creek Lake

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—Formal procedures for putting Maryland's new State Boat Act into force July 1 have been completed by the Tidewater Fisheries Commission and the Game and Inland Fish Commission.

The TFC Thursday gave its final approval to regulations which govern boating in tidal waters, as they were advertised in newspapers Wednesday, 30 days in advance of taking effect.

(The regulations will be advertised in today's Cumberland Evening Times and tomorrow's Cumberland News.)

The Game and Inland Fish Commission also has formally approved the regulations, for inland waters, and added seven new ones to apply to boating on Deep Creek Lake only.

Dr. H.C. Byrd, chairman of the Tidewater Fisheries Commission, said Thursday that an okay is expected from the Coast Guard this week for Maryland to take over enforcement of boat laws July 1.

Will Clarify

Meanwhile, the fisheries department is continuing to process applications for licenses. It has received more than 15,000 to date but has had to send back approximately half of them for information omitted by boat owners.

Byrd said new instruction sheets have been prepared to clarify the information sought.

Byrd and Commissioner Jeremiah Valliant said they had both received numerous complaints from boat owners about the applications.

The act will be enforced in tidal waters by fisheries department inspectors and in non-tidal waters by game and fish personnel.

The fisheries department will be using its regular fleet of 37 inboard and 24 outboard motor patrol vessels and plans to add nine more outboards in July for the start of enforcement.

Two In Garrett

The Game and Inland Fish Department is planning to purchase six boats, once funds from license revenues become available, and will deploy them as follows: 2 in Garrett County for Deep Creek Lake, Yough Reservoir and Savage River Reservoir; one each in Washington, Frederick and Montgomery counties for the Potomac River; and one in Harford and Cecil counties for Conowingo Lake and non-tidal sections of the Susquehanna River.

Director Ernest K. Vaughn said that game wardens in the other 17 counties will be in charge of enforcing the act on lakes and ponds in their areas.

All power boats of more than 7½ horsepower and all sailboats over 25 feet in length are required to obtain licenses, which are being issued at $6 each for a three-year period.

The general boat regulations require all craft to carry safety equipment as specified by the Coast Guard, prohibit reckless or negligent operation of boats, require numbers to be displayed on licensed vessels and set forth requirements for reporting accidents to the Department of Tidewater Fisheries.

Apply To Lake

In addition, the Game and Inland Fish Commission has adopted these regulations applying to Deep Creek Lake only:

1. All vessels shall carry one Coast Guard - approved life preserver for each person on board.
2. No vessel exceeding 30 feet in length shall be operated on the lake.
3. No vessel other than an authorized patrol boat shall use a siren on the lake.
4. No houseboat of any description shall be permitted on the lake.
5. No garbage, sewage or like waste material shall be dumped, discharged or otherwise placed in the lake from any vessel.
6. No vessel except those manually propelled shall be operated inshore from yellow buoys which designate wharves, piers, docks and bathing beaches except for depature and landing.
7. No aircraft of any description shall be permitted to land, remain or takeoff on or from the waters of the lake without written permission first having been obtained from the Game and Inland Fish Commission and the Pennsylvania Electric Co.

Cancer Highly Curable, CUF Unit Is Told

Specialist Speaks At Meeting Here

"Cancer is a very highly curable disease," Dr. Fernando G. Bloedorn, head of the division of radiotherapy and associate professor of radiology at the University of Maryland School of Medicine, told the board of directors of the Health Research & Services Foundation of County United Fund at a meeting last night at the Cumberland Country Club.

regular monthly CUF-HR & SF cancer clinic at Memorial Hospital yesterday afternoon, serving as consultant to tri-state physicians as he saw eight cancer patients.

In some categories, over 90 per cent of the cancer patients are cured, Dr. Bloedorn told the local health group. In cancer of the bladder, about 50 per cent are cured—a very high rate by world standards, he declared.

Clinical research, such as that conducted in the Cumberland clinic, is extremely valuable, Dr. Bloedorn said, particularly in the area of the treatment of lung cancer.

"We are making progress in all areas," he said, "and visitors from all over the world come to study the methods used at University Hospital."

The university specialist, described by Dr. L. Lewis Mould who introduced him, as "renowned nationally and on a world wide level," is a native of Argentina who has had ten years' experience as a general practitioner in a small town, served for a number of years in the study of radiotherapy in Houston, Texas, and has been associated with University Hospital for the last five years.

Accepting formal presentation of a $5,000 grant to the cancer research program at Maryland, Dr. Bloedorn said that "this gesture will aid tremendously in our work. The people of this area are apparently appreciative of our efforts."

He said that tumor clinics, such as that conducted here, enable specialists to unify their techniques and at the same moment extend the facilities of a medical center into the local community. In this way, he added, the community and the medical center both benefit.

Dr. Bloedorn emphasized that early detection is the greatest asset in the cure of cancer, while the patient must be educated to keep in touch with his specialists—even after he is cured. In this way, he concluded, a complete study of the recurrence of cancer can be made.

Dwelling at length on the present and future work of the University of Maryland research program into cancer, Dr. Bloedorn answered questions from those present and said that one phase of the work at University Hospital concerns the healing of wounds that might result from atomic war.

Four years ago, he said, the clinic at the hospital was treating four patients a day. Today, however, the number has risen to between 70 and 80 patients.

Dr. Wylie M. Faw Jr., president of the Health Research & Services Foundation, was chairman of the meeting. Also in attendance were George B. Newman, vice president; William R. Carscaden, secretary; Dr. A. J. Mirkin, treasurer; and the following members of the board of directors: Raymond C. Adams, Marvin E. Clark, Dr. Donald B. Grove, William A. Hersh, Dr. W. Royce Hodges, Dr. Robert W. McCoy, Jr., John A. Moberly, Woodward D. Pealer, Roy T. Satzer and Mrs. George M. Young.

Guests included Jeannette L. Bonig, executive secretary of Associated Charities, and Winfield H. Adam, executive director of County United Fund.

AF Vehicles Are Delayed In City

Trucks Believed Carrying Missile

Three large Air Force tractor-trailer trucks accompanied by a smaller pickup vehicle were delayed for about 45 minutes in Cumberland by a breakdown while traveling over Route 40 to Ohio from Philadelphia, Pa., and Baltimore. The trucks apparently were carrying a missile.

City police provided an escort for the huge vehicles which were unable to travel over the Pennsylvania Turnpike because of their size. Officer James Morris said the largest trailer measured 60 by 13 feet.

The largest truck-trailer broke down at the intersection of Henderson Avenue and Baltimore Avenue when an air hose began to leak. Emergency repairs were made at a local garage and the truck continued on its way west.

Another of the vehicles, stopped in the Narrows to await the large truck, had a small fire in its brakes but the Air Force crew was able to extinguish the flames with no damage.

Officer Morris described the largest vehicle as canvas-covered with a metal object aboard. Another vehicle had a large tank-like construction covered with material similar to parachute silk. The third truck-trailer had a device that looked like a missile firing ramp, he said. The four vehicles had red blinker lights atop the truck cabs, he added.

Lettering on the vehicles identified them as Air Force trucks. The words "Titan" and "Oxygen" also were printed on one of the vehicles. The trucks went through Cumberland at about 5 p.m.

A "Titan" is an Air Force intercontinental ballistic missile which weighs 110 tons fully loaded for firing, and is 90 feet long. It was designed to succeed the Atlas.

City Police said the truck crews gave no indication of the contents of the covered trailers.

Minor Fire Alarm

West Side Fire Company answered an alarm at 14 North Lee Street yesterday morning. Firemen reported a clothes dryer had caught fire but said damage was minor. The call came in at 11:50 a.m. and firemen returned to the station at 12:03 p.m.

County Tax Bills Are Mailed Out

Nearly all of the 35,000 Allegany County tax bills on real and personal property were placed in the mail yesterday, according to Tax Collector William B. Orndorff.

Employes in the collector's office and the assessment department worked long hours beginning about May 7 to assure that the bills would be distributed early in June. Although most people were not particularly happy about getting their bills, they realize that it is a public service to get them early in the month. That way they can plan better how to pay the taxes in order to get a five per cent discount for county taxes paid on or before midnight June 30.

The new bills, run off on a new machine, actually show the exact amount of the five percent discount. Mr. Orndorff is urging as many taxpayers as are able to, to pay their taxes by check or money order and mail them to the Court House.

The local organization will be one of more than 1,900 Elks lodges from coast to coast saluting the 183d anniversary of the flag's adoption by the Continental Congress on June 14, 1777. This year's theme is "Unity in the Face of International Tension."

Again this year a contest will be conducted and awards made by the Grand Lodge committee on lodge activities to units having the best Flag Day observances, Mr. Stakem said. Competition will be in two groups, lodges with membership up to and including 600 and lodges with more than 600 members.

Winning entries will be displayed and awards presented at the Elks national convention in Dallas, Texas, next month when the Cumberland ritualistic team will compete as a representative of the Maryland - Delaware - District of Columbia Elks Association.

Boat Safety Regulations Are Approved

Special Rules Set For Deep Creek Lake

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—Formal procedures for putting Maryland's new State Boat Act into force July 1 have been completed by the Tidewater Fisheries Commission and the Game and Inland Fish Commission.

The TFC Thursday gave its final approval to regulations which govern boating in tidal waters, as they were advertised in newspapers Wednesday, 30 days in advance of taking effect.

(The regulations will be advertised in today's Cumberland Evening Times and tomorrow's Cumberland News.)

The Game and Inland Fish Commission also has formally approved the regulations, for inland waters, and added seven new ones to apply to boating on Deep Creek Lake only.

Dr. H.C. Byrd, chairman of the Tidewater Fisheries Commission, said Thursday that an okay is expected from the Coast Guard this week for Maryland to take over enforcement of boat laws July 1.

Will Clarify

Meanwhile, the fisheries department is continuing to process applications for licenses. It has received more than 15,000 to date but has had to send back approximately half of them for information omitted by boat owners.

Byrd said new instruction sheets have been prepared to clarify the information sought.

Byrd and Commissioner Jeremiah Valliant said they had both received numerous complaints from boat owners about the applications.

The act will be enforced in tidal waters by fisheries department inspectors and in non-tidal waters by game and fish personnel.

The fisheries department will be using its regular fleet of 37 inboard and 24 outboard motor patrol vessels and plans to add nine more outboards in July for the start of enforcement.

Two In Garrett

The Game and Inland Fish Department is planning to purchase six boats, once funds from license revenues become available, and will deploy them as follows: 2 in Garrett County for Deep Creek Lake, Yough Reservoir and Savage River Reservoir; one each in Washington, Frederick and Montgomery counties for the Potomac River; and one in Harford and Cecil counties for Conowingo Lake and non-tidal sections of the Susquehanna River.

Director Ernest K. Vaughn said that game wardens in the other 17 counties will be in charge of enforcing the act on lakes and ponds in their areas.

All power boats of more than 7½ horsepower and all sailboats over 25 feet in length are required to obtain licenses, which are being issued at $6 each for a three-year period.

The general boat regulations require all craft to carry safety equipment as specified by the Coast Guard, prohibit reckless or negligent operation of boats, require numbers to be displayed on licensed vessels and set forth requirements for reporting accidents to the Department of Tidewater Fisheries.

Apply To Lake

In addition, the Game and Inland Fish Commission has adopted these regulations applying to Deep Creek Lake only:

1. All vessels shall carry one Coast Guard - approved life preserver for each person on board.
2. No vessel exceeding 30 feet in length shall be operated on the lake.
3. No vessel other than an authorized patrol boat shall use a siren on the lake.
4. No houseboat of any description shall be permitted on the lake.
5. No garbage, sewage or like waste material shall be dumped, discharged or otherwise placed in the lake from any vessel.
6. No vessel except those manually propelled shall be operated inshore from yellow buoys which designate wharves, piers, docks and bathing beaches except for depature and landing.
7. No aircraft of any description shall be permitted to land, remain or takeoff on or from the waters of the lake without written permission first having been obtained from the Game and Inland Fish Commission and the Pennsylvania Electric Co.

Cancer Highly Curable, CUF Unit Is Told

Specialist Speaks At Meeting Here

"Cancer is a very highly curable disease," Dr. Fernando G. Bloedorn, head of the division of radiotherapy and associate professor of radiology at the University of Maryland School of Medicine, told the board of directors of the Health Research & Services Foundation of County United Fund at a meeting last night at the Cumberland Country Club.

regular monthly CUF-HR & SF cancer clinic at Memorial Hospital yesterday afternoon, serving as consultant to tri-state physicians as he saw eight cancer patients.

In some categories, over 90 per cent of the cancer patients are cured, Dr. Bloedorn told the local health group. In cancer of the bladder, about 50 per cent are cured—a very high rate by world standards, he declared.

Clinical research, such as that conducted in the Cumberland clinic, is extremely valuable, Dr. Bloedorn said, particularly in the area of the treatment of lung cancer.

"We are making progress in all areas," he said, "and visitors from all over the world come to study the methods used at University Hospital."

The university specialist, described by Dr. L. Lewis Mould who introduced him, as "renowned nationally and on a world wide level," is a native of Argentina who has had ten years' experience as a general practitioner in a small town, served for a number of years in the study of radiotherapy in Houston, Texas, and has been associated with University Hospital for the last five years.

Accepting formal presentation of a $5,000 grant to the cancer research program at Maryland, Dr. Bloedorn said that "this gesture will aid tremendously in our work. The people of this area are apparently appreciative of our efforts."

He said that tumor clinics, such as that conducted here, enable specialists to unify their techniques and at the same moment extend the facilities of a medical center into the local community. In this way, he added, the community and the medical center both benefit.

Dr. Bloedorn emphasized that early detection is the greatest asset in the cure of cancer, while the patient must be educated to keep in touch with his specialists—even after he is cured. In this way, he concluded, a complete study of the recurrence of cancer can be made.

Dwelling at length on the present and future work of the University of Maryland research program into cancer, Dr. Bloedorn answered questions from those present and said that one phase of the work at University Hospital concerns the healing of wounds that might result from atomic war.

Four years ago, he said, the clinic at the hospital was treating four patients a day. Today, however, the number has risen to between 70 and 80 patients.

Dr. Wylie M. Faw Jr., president of the Health Research & Services Foundation, was chairman of the meeting. Also in attendance were George B. Newman, vice president; William R. Carscaden, secretary; Dr. A. J. Mirkin, treasurer; and the following members of the board of directors: Raymond C. Adams, Marvin E. Clark, Dr. Donald B. Grove, William A. Hersh, Dr. W. Royce Hodges, Dr. Robert W. McCoy, Jr., John A. Moberly, Woodward D. Pealer, Roy T. Satzer and Mrs. George M. Young.

Guests included Jeannette L. Bonig, executive secretary of Associated Charities, and Winfield H. Adam, executive director of County United Fund.

The playground program will be directed by the City Recreation Department staff, aided by a playground supervisor and 14 playground directors.

A four-day training institute for the playground staff will be held June 14-17.

Mr. Mason and Mrs. Eva Hogan, assistant to the director, have been busy this week working out the administrative details of the playground program and scheduling the special events which are the highlights of the program.

Although most people were not particularly happy about getting their bills, they realize that it is a public service to get them early in the month. That way they can plan better how to pay the taxes in order to get a five per cent discount for county taxes paid on or before midnight June 30.

The new bills, run off on a new machine, actually show the exact amount of the five per cent discount. Mr. Orndorff is urging as many taxpayers as are able to, to pay their taxes by check or money order and mail them to the Court House.

Public Flag Day Observance Is Planned By Elks

50-Star Banner To Be Presented

Cumberland Lodge 63, BPO Elks, will hold a public observance of Flag Day June 14 at 2 p. m. at City Hall, according to Exalted Ruler Paul G. Stakem.

A 50-star flag will be presented to Mayor J. Edwin Keech, and Arthur B. Gibson will give the history of the colors.

In charge of arrangements for the program are John E. Mertens, Joseph E. Mackert and John E. Byrd Jr. Members of the lodge will attend.

The local organization will be one of more than 1,900 Elks lodges from coast to coast saluting the 183d anniversary of the flag's adoption by the Continental Congress on June 14, 1777. This year's theme is "Unity in the Face of International Tension."

Again this year a contest will be conducted and awards made by the Grand Lodge committee on lodge activities to units having the best Flag Day observances, Mr. Stakem said. Competition will be in two groups, lodges with membership up to and including 600 and lodges with more than 600 members.

Winning entries will be displayed and awards presented at the Elks national convention in Dallas, Texas, next month when the Cumberland ritualistic team will compete as a representative of the Maryland - Delaware - District of Columbia Elks Association.

Mr. Stakem pointed out that the Order of Elks, which began observing Flag Day in 1907, was the first fraternal organization in the nation to pay tribute to the Stars and Stripes on its birthday.

Pupils Take Train Ride

Thirty-seven pupils in Mrs. Josephine Yarnall's second grade class at West Side School are shown as they prepared to board the B&O's Train No. 11 for a ride to Keyser yesterday afternoon. For many it was their first train ride, just as the return by school bus was the first bus trip for others. At the station, the children inspected the baggage and express rooms before buying their own tickets. Aboard the train they inspected the parlor and dining cars and the kitchen. The class also went to the B&O Roundhouse to see the turntable in action. Mrs. Yarnall is in back row above, third from right.
